HAYASHI IS CONSULTING CURZON AS TO PACIFIC

Hold Conference Upon Attitude Regarding Mandate Islands

MENTION GUAM

Also Philippine Forts May Be Slated For Removal

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, July 27.—Yesterday afternoon the British Ambassador called on Count Uchida, Foreign Minister, at the Foreign Office and had an interview with him.

Referring to the subject under consultation between them, the Nichi Nichi says that, on July 24, an informal conference took place between Lord Curzon and Baron Hayashi in regard to the Pacific conference at which views were exchanged.

The subjects discussed in London between the Japanese and British officials are believed to have included the desirability of a definite arrangement relating to the equipment (? armament) on the Pacific islands mandated to Great Britain and Japan; question of the removal of the defense works on the Bonins, Guam, the Philippines and other Pacific islands; and an understanding as to the area of communication and policing in the South Pacific.

MAY ADVANCE DATE

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 1.—According to a New York telegram, the Washington correspondents of the newspapers agree that President Harding is determined to adhere to the original plan of a disarmament conference between all the Powers simultaneously, and that he will steadfastly reject all proposals for a preliminary conference of certain Powers on Far Eastern or other questions with only an indirect bearing on the reduction of armaments.

In order to meet the reported desire of the British Dominions Prime Ministers for an early conference, President Harding is said to be willing to issue formal invitations to meet in October instead of November.

The telegram adds that there is a growing feeling in New York that, for the conference to be successful, it must be held in public.

Holland Agrees To The International Court Of Justice

(Reuter's Service)

The Hague, July 30.—The Foreign Ministry announces that the Dutch Legation at Berne has sent to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations its ratifications of the statute of the permanent International Court of Justice, adding the declaration that the Dutch Government recognises the jurisdiction of that court as obligatory, in conformity with the statute on the footing of reciprocity for five years and for the settlement of disputes in the future, with regard to which nothing has been agreed to by the parties with regard to any other manner of reaching a pacific solution.

Take Bandit Suspect After Battle Which French Police Win

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, July 30.—A man named Cherrier has been arrested in connection with the recent robbery on the Paris-Marseilles express. The arrest was only effected after a struggle by the police, in which two accomplices were killed and a police inspector seriously wounded.

Gorky's Appeal Has Brought Help To The Hungry In Moscow

(Reuter's Service)

Berne, July 30.—As the result of the appeal from M. Maxim Gorky for help in succoring the present sufferers from disease and famine in Russia, the International Union for the Relief of Children, with headquarters at Geneva, has begun the distribution of food and clothing in Moscow, and is appealing for contributions.

Vice-President Of Camp Fire Girls Of America

Mrs. Alice McKay Kelly, vice-president of the Camp Fire Girls of America, who was received by President and Mrs. Harding on the occasion of the presentation by the Camp Fire Girls of a scarf and a pair of moccasins to President and Mrs. Harding. Mrs. Kelly is well known in Shanghai where she has many friends who met her when she first came to the Far East to start schools in Benguet province of the Philippines. Due to her efforts to teach the Igorot savages' children politeness, for years the headhunters would greet all foreigners, regardless of sex with the only English phrase they knew: "Good morning Mrs. Kelly."

BETTER FEELING NOW EXISTS OVER SILESIAN MATTER

Plain Speaking Clears Up Tension Between French And British People

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 30.—Reuter's Agency learns that the situation as between the British and French Governments is very much better, that the various misunderstandings which existed have been dispersed, and that the Supreme Council will probably meet on August 4, after all.

Lord Hardinge, the British Ambassador, saw M. Briand after a meeting of the French Cabinet, and the position is now regarded in Paris as having been cleared up most satisfactorily.

Reuter's announcement of the improvement in Anglo-French relations was confirmed by Mr. Lloyd George in the course of a speech this afternoon at Thame, in Oxfordshire, where he unveiled a war memorial.

It was unconceivable, he said, that France and Great Britain should quarrel as to the interpretation of the peace they had achieved at such tremendous cost.

PLAIN WORDS USED

There had been differnces between them recently in regard to the interpretation of a section in the Treaty, but the plain speaking on both sides had produced excellent results.

They were now on the high road to an understanding, and it had been arranged that the Allies should meet in a few days, when it was hoped that the vexed question would be finally settled.

Great Britain, said Mr. Lloyd George, recognised that France's greater sacrifices gave her a special claim to consideration, but she had respectfully pointed out that France's apprehensions of danger were apt to deflect her calm judgment.

The sole concern of the British Empire was the attainment of immediate peace, and its sole anxiety was lest her allies, by an unwise use of their power, might strengthen the roots of future conflict. Hence the whole might of the British Empire was today thrown in the scales of peace, as it was thrown into the scales of war in 1914.

Paris, July 30.—As the result of an understanding between the British and French Governments, instructions have been sent to General Lerond to the effect that, pending the meeting of the Supreme Council, close co-operation between the Allied troops in Upper Silesia must be observed, with a view to preventing any at-

Two Foreigners Dead As Record-Breaking Heat Wave Claims Many Victims Here

Father Le Cornec Of St. Joseph's, And Mr. W. Whaite Of Hankow Customs Succumb; Maximum Temperature For Week Averages 98.2

The thunderstorm and cool breezes which swept across the city last evening brought at least a temporary relief from one of the fiercest heat waves to smite Shanghai in many years, which is held responsible, either directly or indirectly, for the deaths of three foreigners and a number of fatalities among the Chinese community. The total of heat prostrations for the past week or ten days is nearly two hundred.

Two foreigners died here yesterday, victims of the weather. They were Father Ludovicus Le Cornec, chaplain of St. Joseph's Convent, who was stricken suddenly about midnight, and Mr. W. P. M. Whaite, chief Customs examiner of Hankow, who collapsed in his chair at the Savoy Hotel, yesterday noon. Mr. Whaite was visiting Shanghai on leave. He was given immediate medical attention but died within a few minutes after the attack.

The death of Mr. Albert Charles Gayot, Chancellor of the French Consulate, who has been in St. Mary's Hospital for two weeks following the bite of a dog, is also held to be at least partly due to the heat, which greatly weakened his power of resistance.

A local heat record was broken for the week ending yesterday, the highest maximum average for the seven days being greater than for the hottest week in July, 1914, when for three successive days the mercury climbed to 100 degrees or over.

The average maximum figure for last week is 98.2. For the hottest week in July, 1914 the average was 97.9. High point for any one day was 101.8. The highest figure reached during last week was 100.8, on Thursday.

It is feared by local practitioners that unless the wave breaks soon it will result in many more deaths among people now suffering from various illnesses, whose chances of recovery are considerably lessened by the continued intense heat.

The sidewalks and streets of the city are eloquent indication these nights of the suffering in the congested Chinese districts. With the exception of the principal business thoroughfares, where traffic prohibits, the curbstone apparently has become Shanghai's pallet and some byways are so thickly strewn with sleeping figures from 10 p.m. until dawn that a pedestrian must chart a careful course to keep from stumbling over them.

Many cases of heat prostration have come to the attention of the hospitals, foreign and Chinese, during the past few days. There are three foreign sufferers at the General Hospital at the present time, while St. Luke's, the Shantung Road Hospital and the summer diseases hospital in Nantao have received numbers of patients from among the Chinese, several of whom were picked up in the streets. Two Chinese died yesterday at St. Luke's and several deaths were recorded last week.

NORTHCLIFFE IS BARRED; CURZON DID IT HE CHARGES

Denial Of Interview With Times Brings Thanks From The King's Secretary

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, July 30.—A statement issued with Lord Northcliffe's authority says that, for reasons of which he is not aware invitations which were extended to him to stay at the British Embassy and attend a dinner there on July 28 were afterwards withdrawn. The statement attributes the cancellation of the invitation to Lord Curzon.

Lord Northcliffe has departed for New York, en route for Montreal and Australia. Prior to his departure, his lordship attended a dinner given by Mrs. John R. McLean, wife of the proprietor of the Washington Post, at which the guests included Mr. Hughes, Secretary of State; Mr. Hoover, Secretary of Commerce; Mr. Denby, Secretary of the Navy, and General Pershing.

KING IS PLEASED

London, July 30.—With reference to Lord Northcliffe's denial as to having ascribed to His Majesty the words attributed to him in an interview published in the New York Times, and afterwards in the Daily Mail, the King's private secretary, Lord Stamfordham, has telegraped to Lord Northcliffe, saying that His Majesty is glad that Lord Northcliffe's message confirms the statement made on the King's authority in the House of Commons.

The New York Times, in an editorial note on the subject of the interview, gives the following explanation: "The interview with Mr. Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, was written by a trustworthy reporter, who believes his report of the interview to be accurate, but Mr. Steed has since intimated that the interview contained matter that should not have been published. Mr. Steed had no opportunity to revise the interview.

"As reprinted in England is one of Lord Northcliffe's own papers, the interview was incorrectly attributed to Lord Northcliffe himself. Lord Northcliffe has not given to the New York Times, nor has the New York Times reported him as giving, any statement of a purported conversation between King George and Mr. Lloyd George."

WORLD'S EXPLANATION

New York, July 31.—The New York World gives the following explanation in regard to the controversy which has centered round Lord Northcliffe. It declares that a New York Times reporter

BOTH LL. GEORGE AND SMUTS MAY GO TO AMERICA

Plan Is To Counteract Effort To Mislead People On Irish Situation

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 31.—The Observer says that, in view of the necessity of counter-acting attempts to mislead American opinion on the Irish situation, it will not be surprising if Mr. Lloyd George goes to America some time during the next few weeks.

The journal expresses the hope that Mr. Hughes, Mr. Massey and General Smuts will accompany him, and participate in preliminary conversations with President Harding with regard to the Washington Conference.

London, July 30.—Counsel for the military authorities informed the Master of the Rolls in Dublin today that he had been instructed by the Government to state that the two Sinn Feiners who as mentioned in an earlier message had been sentenced to death by military courts would be released, pending an appeal against the Master's order for the issue of writs of attachment against General Sir Nevil Macready, General Strickland and other officers. The Master therefore granted a stay of execution in regard to the writs of attachment.

POLICE SEEK MAN WHO KILLED GIRL AT LOCAL HOTEL

Ex-Convict Slayer Leaves Death Pact Letters At Great Eastern

The Settlement police are looking for a man named Jui Tsongling, believed to be the murderer of a Chinese girl, said to have been a sing-song girl, whose body, pierced with two bullet wounds and with a towel wrapped round the throat, was found in a room at the Great Eastern Hotel Sunday evening.

Letters to relatives and friends of the supposed slayer and to a Chinese newspaper declaring that he and the girl had decided to die together and asking that this fact be given publicity have added an added element of mystery into the affair.

The man and woman came to the hotel last Friday, the former registering by the name of Sung Pah-tsung and stating his companion to be his wife. They came without luggage and as he was leaving the establishment Sunday noon the guest was stopped by one of the boys and requested to pay his bill. He replied that his wife was still in the room and that he himself would return in a little while. He had not returned by evening and shortly before 8 o'clock the room boy, growing suspicious, unlocked the door with a duplicate key and found the woman's body lying upon the floor, face downward and covered with a blanket.

The police were notified and examination revealed a gunshot wound in the left arm and another in the left thigh. A towel was twisted about the woman's throat but not tightly enough to have caused her death. A .32-calibre Webly-Scott automatic pistol was found lying upon the bed, with a cartridge in the chamber and another in the magazine. One spent shell and four cartridges, the caps of which had been dented but which were unexploded, were found upon the floor. On a table were five letters, stamped and addressed and ready for the post.

The letters were addressed to the father and brother of the man now sought as the murderer, to two of his friends and to the editor of one of the Chinese newspapers. In them the writer explained that he and the girl had determined to die together. Whether he lost his nerve after killing his companion or whether the suicide intimation was calculated as likely to throw the police off the trail is puzzling the authorities.

The suspect was convicted and sentenced to four months' imprisonment last year for embezzlement and is also wanted by the police for committing an armed robbery at the shop of his brother, 777 Carter Road, only last Wednesday night. Until the middle of last month he was employed as a houseboy by a foreign doctor.

The body of the girl, who was about 25 years of age, has been identified as one Lau Sze, who lived with her parents in an alleyway off Sinza Road.

An inquest was held yesterday by Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Li of the Mixed Court and a verdict of death as a result of bullet wounds was returned.

Outport Climbers Find Cliff Of Jagged Rocks

By Elsie McCormick

If someone among the sinologues who write heavy tomes on Chinese manners and customs would take a little time off and study the social life among foreigners in the outports, he would find more strata than a geologist shinnying up the side of a cliff, more formality than at the court of a third rate kingdom, and more feuds than a sheriff could discover in the Kentucky mountains. By some peculiar inconsistency he would also find hospitality to the passing stranger as spontaneous as that of a Bedouin in the desert.

In Shanghai there is no leading social set in which various [illegible] to find a place. The city is comfortably divided into little groups who usually know each other, but who are quite content to go their separate ways. Though the taipans are necessarily the most important caterpillars on the squash vine, any young man who owns a dinner jacket, knows how to dance, and doesn't eat with his knife is certain of a fair number of invitations. Nor does the girl who takes dictation during the day find herself handicapped by the weight of her typewriter in the race for social popularity.

NOT SO IN OUTPORTS

But in the outports it is all as different as a quinine tablet and a chocolate cream. The smaller the outport, the stiffer its barriers and the more formal its customs. Every person is rigidly placed in his social niche, according to the importance of the firm with which he is connected and his position as Number One, Two or Three.

The same rating applies to wives. An outport hostess giving a stranger a confidential line on her guests usually whispers: "That one over there in blue is the wife of the Patriotic Petroleum and the one next to her in pink is engaged to the X. Y. Z. Bank."

Many and jagged are the stumbling-blocks in the way of a newcomer who has just moved to an outport. First there is the matter of calls. It is doubtful if there is any place in the world where people are more punctilious on this subject than in a small foreign community in China. Nor does anyone stretch a guiding hand to save the newcomer from getting in wrong, which he frequently does with agility and despatch.

A young man from a small town at home, where a call was always preceded by a meeting and an invitation, is not likely to realise that he is expected to go into strange homes and leave cards for people to whom he has never been introduced. By the time he wakes up to what is expected of him, it is often too late to mend the breach and he has the prospect of many long winter evenings devoted entirely to solitaire.

MUST BE CAREFUL

One of the early discoveries of the newcomer usually is that one of the ladies does not speak to another lady because of a call that was not returned some five years ago and that the whole town is more or less lined up on one side or the other. If the recent arrival innocently accepts the hospitality of one of the social warriers, he will find that when he approaches the other residence, the mat with "welcome" on it has been removed, and the sign, "Beware of the Dog" put up instead.

The missionaries form a class apart in outports, not because of any inherent social prejudice but because of differing views on the subjects of refreshments and recreation. If a hostess serves liquor at a party, it is very likely that the missionaries will not come, and if she doesn't, nobody else will. The fact that most missionaries do not dance or play cards also prevents them from joining in the general social life of the community. As they usually live in [illegible] compounds, however, they [illegible] able to create a self-sustaining and enjoyable society of their own.

It happens that even among mission workers there is such a thing as ostracism, dinner invitations being denied to those suspected of "sheep-stealing." This particular crime, as understood in mission circles, has nothing to do with the misappropriation of mutton. It is applied to zealous evangelists who devote their attention to annexing other people's converts, instead of seeking those who have not hitherto been approached.

In view of the many factors with which she has to contend, the outport hostess arranging the place-cards at her dinner-table has almost as enviable a task as the gentlemen who have tried to take the kinks out of European boundaries and satisfy everybody in the process.

Where social precedence is so rigidly observed, problems arise that could be answered only by somebody adept in differential calculus. In those cases where the guests consist of Numbers One, Two and Three in the same firm, the answer is simple. But what about the times when the guest list includes the Number Ones of firms in a similar business, but of different nationality? Suppose two consuls are invited? And does a navy officer of certain rank take precedence over a consul? What about navy and army officers of corresponding rating? Personally, we have watched a prospective dinner hostesss change the place-cards three or four times before the arrival of the guests, meanwhile working herself into an state of nervous bankruptcy.

BUT NOT YOUR CITY

Despite this social artificiality, however, there is no reason to be pessimistic on the subject of outports. In the face of such crises as birth, death or serious illness, the lines between "indoor" and "outdoor" occupations are forgotten; neglected calls fade back into the subconscious mind; and little disputes roll away like smoke.

Missionaries stripped of their possessions by robbers, women suddenly widowed, and many others distressed in "mind, body or estate" have built cairns of gratitude in their hearts to commemorate the kindly acts of outport residents. Casual visitors, too, are often showered with social attentions, and feel none of the little distinctions unless they happen to stay too long.

Anyway, residents of the interior are advised that what we have said about social artificiality doesn't apply to their outports: we were talking about the one farther up the river.

BATTLE NOW NEAR; HUPEH AND HUNAN SKIRMISHING

Tuchuns Want Wu Pei-fu Sent To Lead All Troops At Front

HIS TONE SINCERE

Full Text Of Interview With Mystery Man Tells His Aims

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 30.—A collision has occurred between Hunan troops at Wulipei and Hupeh troops at Yanglao-shih and a battle is expected to take place today.

The Government has appointed General Hsiao Yao-nan to command the Chihli troops sent to Hupeh as reinforcements.

Want Wu As Chief Of Troops In Hupeh

Peking, July 30.—It is reported that Generals Chan Kuang-yuan and Wang Chuan-yuan, Tuchuns of Kiangsi and Hupeh, respectively, have requested the Government to nominate General Wu Pei-fu as Commander-in-Chief of the reinforcements sent to the aid of Hupeh with temporary command over all troops in that province. The request was set down for discussion at the meeting of the Cabinet today.

Thirty young soldiers of the third division under General Wu Pei-fu, China's model soldier, have arrived in Shanghai under the charge of Captain Ho Wen-ping. They will enter the Vocational Educational School conducted by Dr. Huang Yen-pei, Vice-president of the Kiangsu Educational Association.

Peace Not Possible By Force Of Arms Asserts Wu Pei-fu

BY JOSEF W. HALL

(Staff Correspondent of THE CHINA PRESS who wired the gist of his exclusive interview for Sunday's issue.)

Chengchow, Honan, July 30.—In the immense, half-completed military plant of the would-be emperor, Yuan Shih-kai, outside of the quiet, ancient city of Honanfu, I was received by General Wu Pei-fu today. Although the train upon which I arrived brought Wang Chin-yu, agent and relative of the tottering High Inspecting General of the Upper Yangtze, following a special train brought General Ma Fu-hsiang, the Moslem leader and Tutung of Suiyuan, and the train upon which at General Wu's kind invitation I returned to Chengchow this afternoon, carried Hankowward General Hsiao Yao-nan, commander of the 25th Division, with instructions as to the control of the Wuhan situation, the headquarters of General Wu, appeared to be calm and unrushed. The General himself seemed exceedingly unflustered and unpreoccupied for a man who is determining the contemporary history of his country.

DEMOCRATIC RECEPTION

The reception given me by the General was democratic. Before the representatives of the Tuchuns of Kiangsi and Hupeh, he answered frankly every question I asked. Whether or not the answers he gave were revelations of his full intentions time must be allowed to tell. His friendly, matter-of-fact air and absence of self-consciousness tended to inspire belief. One thing is certain, he showed no reticence, even in connection with the most delicate topics.

I started with a bit of courteous flattery: to the effect that General Wu is being looked to by foreigners and foreign governments as the man of the hour. I failed to get the expected response and changed my means of approach.

"What," I asked abruptly, "is your purpose in sending troops to Hupeh? Are you going to fight Chao Heng-ti of Hunan? I thought he was your friend."

CHAO DISAPPOINTS HIM

In reply General Wu revealed to me a choice bit that the gossip-mongers of China have missed. "I had considered Chao to be my friend," he said, "since my stay in Hunan. He has proved to be a tremendous disappointment. You remember my demand, after the destruction of the Anfu government last summer, for an inter-provincial constitutional assembly. Although my plan was wrecked at that time by Chang Tso-lin, I have not given up the idea, and still hold it to be the only means of consolidating the nation.

"I had entrusted to Chao Heng-ti, of Hunan, the task of gaining the support of the southern provinces for the scheme, reserving to myself the work of rallying the northern provinces. I had hoped that by fall I might find it practicable to call such an assembly, leaving out, if necessary, the Manchurian provinces. Chao Heng-ti, by his precipitate and craven action, has betrayed my plan. Any kind of fighting must delay it. I am sending troops to Hupeh to prevent war. I still hope to execute the plan for a constitutional assembly."

WANG IS HUPEH

"Will you then," I asked, "protect Wang Chan-yuan?"

The Vice Inspector-General glanced at Wang's agent.

"To protect Wang is, for the time being, to protect Hupeh," he said. "Hupeh must, at this time, be preserved from strife and invasion. The foreign interests in the Wuhan cities must not be risked. Already there is too much basis for intervention talk. Above all, a recurrence of a general war between the North and the South must at all costs be prevented.

"China's reunion can never be accomplished by fighting. Chao has shown lamentable weakness before the bluff of the Sun Wen party. He claims that his financial shortage compels him to accept the invitation of the Hupeh disaffectants to attack Tuchun Wang. I myself assisted him only a few weeks ago in obtaining arms, supplies and $100,000, from Hupeh, and $50,000 from Kiangsi. He now uses these resources to attack Hupeh, which is perfidy.

WANTS NO SUCH PRESIDENT

"I believe that a province should have a voice in regard to the choice of its ruler, and I am willing that, after the present crisis is past, the Hupeh people should have the opportunity to rid themselves of Tuchun Wang, the charges against whose administration are well known to me. I emphatically state, however, that the disaffected factions of one province in hiring or instigating the military of a neighboring province to assist in deposing an official are tending to establish a most dangerous precedent—a precedent which would mean continual chaos in China, and I am determined that such a precedent shall not be established.

The Hunanese must confine their attempts at the setting up of righteousness to their own province. I shall therefore support the status quo in Hupeh until the southern threat is removed, when I believe the people of Hupeh will have the privilege of a voice in the selection of a successor to General Wang, who is now over sixty years old."

"Many of the Hupehese would welcome yourself as the old General's successor," I suggested.

I AM NO ADMINISTRATOR

General Wu replied in an impersonal manner. "I am not cut out for administrative work," he said. "And I prefer to remain free to launch my forces against any faction standing in the way of China's unity, as I have recently done against the old Anfu remnant in Shensi. Once a provincial official, I should be fettered, and could no longer freely speak nor act."

"Will you send sufficient forces to Hankow to control the situation?" I asked. "How about Ichang and the Szechuen border?"

"I believe," he replied, "that I can guarantee the peace of the Wuhan region. I shall also occupy Ichang, and other Yangtsze ports. I am assuming command of all northern expeditionary forces, and Tuchun Wang and the Kiangsi Tuchun have offered to place their forces under my direction. The Chihli 25th Division and Chin Yun-ao's Eighth Mixed Brigade from Chengchow are already in Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang. Shantung and Honan are sending several regiments.

CAN USE FOUR DIVISIONS

"I do not as yet consider it necessary to move the Third Division from Honanfu, but if required am prepared to place four divisions on the Yangtsze. General Hsiao Yao-nan, Commander of the 25th, is proceeding today under my instructions to take command in the Wuhan district pending my going personally to Hankow, which may not be for some time."

"Your troops are provisioned for a long stay," I commented.

"They may remain," was the brief reply.

With an invitation to attend the dinner in honor of the visit of the Moslem chief, the General ended the interview.

I left the audience room feeling that I had listened to the most sane and statesmanlike views that I had ever heard from the lips of a Chinese official. Behind the kindly light-brown eyes and friendly smile of the General I saw flashes of the man of close concentration and quick decision. His statements are worth noting. They evidence reaction to the militant idealism of last summer following his lethargy of the past spring. They may be more than the usual phrases of duplicity or insincere visionism.

Full History Of The Fight On Hupeh Tuchun Wang

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, July 28.—The movement set forth by the people of Hupeh province against Tuchun Wang Chan-yuan of Wuchang, has now broken out into an open struggle. The movement began when the cities of Ichang and Wuchang were looted by Wang's soldiers in June, following which Hupeh men determined to oust Wang from Hupeh. Appeals were made to Peking without avail, and then the insurgents, mostly men responsible for the 1911 Revolution, turned to Hunan for military assistance to overthrow Wang by force of arms. This beginning led to the present attack from Hunan on Wuchang, which, judging from present indications, may develop into a new civil war between southern and northern military castes.

There was a persistent report after the mutinies in June that Hunan would assist Hupeh to oust Wang. Because of the ambiguous attitude of General Chao Heng-ti, Commander-in-Chief of Hunan, the news gradually died off for a time. Messengers and messages were exchanged between Wang and Chao. As a result Wang made a gift of some $300,000, about 10,000 rifles and much ammunition to Chao who promised to be friendly to Wang. Then Chao publicly denounced the news of Hunan attacking Wuchang. Wang was then taking Chao's promise at its face value.

LED TO SORROW

But Wang was losing in the barter. This piece of diplomacy led Wang to his present sorrows. With this supply of money and munitions, Chao proceeded to fight the gift-maker. However, to avoid Wang's suspicion, Chao did not take an active part in military preparations. This is also because his political opponents, General Li Lieh-chun and Mr. Chen Chien, were still unfriendly to him, and threatened to oust Chao. Therefore only those people from Hupeh and Hupeh troops formerly stationed and now still in Hunan actively participated in launching the attack. Just then the differences between Chao and his Hunan opponents were composed by the Hupeh conspirators, for they are colleagues of the same Kuomintang. Being relieved of bothers at home, Chao was free to act. But as a matter of diplomacy, Chao still denied responsibility in the movement when telegraphing Wang.

Hunan forces along with some Hupeh regiments hitherto stationed in Hunan marched out from Changsha on July 22 in the morning in the direction of Yochow, the forces totaling two divisions and about three brigades. This sudden march-out caused quite a big sensation and alarm to Wang, who rushed his nearest forces to Yanglowsze on the Hupeh border. Thus the war zone fall perpendicularly to the Wuchang-Changsha Railway line, which was thrown out of commission by military occupation.

WAY THEY LINEUP

The line-up of the commanders of the insurgent armies is as follows: General Sung Ho-kun, (Hunan Army), Commander-in-Chief of the Expedition; General Hsia Tu-yin (Hupeh Army), Assistant Commander-in-Chief of the Front; General Low Ti-ping, General Aid-de-Camp. General Sung Ho-kun is the most trusted General of Chao Heng-ti. Other once famous and active revolutionaries like Kung Kun, Chiang Cho-ping, Woo Hsin-han and others from Shanghai and Canton.

Wang Chan-yuan has appointed General Sun Chuan-fang his Commander-in-Chief. Other Aids-de-Camp are Chao Yung-hwa and Liu Yao-ting. Northern troops of Chao Ti of Honan, Chin Yun-ao, brother of Premier Chin Yun-peng and also Wu Pei-fu have also arrived here in a large number, and are rushing to the front posthaste.

Skirmishes were fought, and both sides seemed to show equal strength. Serious fighting has not yet begun at the time of writing, but vast preparations on both sides; hostilities will soon reach the breaking point. General Wang's troops at Tungchion near the front are reported to have mutinied and looted the country. Other Hupeh troops under Wang are reported to have expressed signs of disloyalty to their northern lord.

FATE OF PEKING

A side issue of great moment is likely to develop from this imbrogolio, upon which the fate of the present government at Peking depends. While originally initiated to oust Wang from Hupeh, the movement may develop into a war between the North and the South. The southern is believed in many quarters to be in the background, and the activities of Kuomintang men show clearly the matter is by no means a local issue. The scope of the movement is enlarging, and the attack on Wuchang seems now but an initial step.

It is obtained from semi-official sources that the insurgents against the northern militarists are planning a new Central Government of provincial federations with possibly Wuchang as the seat of government. The Southern government, the southwestern provinces and other semi-independent provinces are taking interests in the plan. Many more provinces are soon to join the movement openly. It is rumored that General Wu Pei-fu, while willing to help General Wang of Wuchang in the emergency, is himself a supporter in the scheme, and that his help may not amount to much.

Wang Chan-yuan is exceedingly enraged at Chao Heng-ti of Hunan who got the wherewithals from Wang to finance a campaign Wang himself. He has repeatedly telegraphed Peking asking instructions regarding steps to be taken to cope adequately with the invaders. Northern troops are continuing to pour into this center these few days, and serious development is awaited daily.

Sun To Lead One Column On Hunan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 29.—A telegram from Canton received in Peking yesterday says that Kwangtung is forming three large columns of troops that will march against Hunan by different routes. Dr. Sun Yat-sen announces his intention to accompany one of these columns and give them the benefit of his sage advice and inspiring presence.

Taking success as assured Dr. Sun has already appointed a new Tuchun of Hunan in the person of General Chow Chen-lin, a Hunanese who barely escaped with his life from Peking in 1914, where, it was said, he had been plotting against President Yuan. In 1916 he offended General Chao Heng-ti and fled to Canton where he has since enjoyed favor.

Alarmed at the attitude of Canton, General Chao sent a delegate to Wuchang yesterday with General Wang and an understanding appears to be in sight.

Wants Kwangsi Free From Cantonese Rule

Peking, July 29.—Following his succession of General Lu Yung-ting and subsequent declaration in favor of establishing the independence of Kwangsi, General Shen Hung-ying, Commander-in-Chief of the Kwangsi troops, has addressed a protest to Canton against continuation of the operations against his province. General Shen declares that his idea is to give Kwangsi an independent and popular Government, and not to let it become a dependency of Kwangtung.

More Confidence In Great Wu Now Shown

Peking, July 29.—The Government's anxiety about Hupei has been considerably lessened by the latest reports from Hankow. A few days ago great anxiety prevailed at Hankow, where it was believed that General Wu Pei-fu would support General Chao Heng-ti, and that General Wang Chan-yuan's forces would take the first opportunity to rebel against their Tuchun.

General Wu, however, has made it clear that if Hunan continues hostilities against Hupei he will come to the assistance of Hupei, and public confidence has been restored.

Many reports also confirm the statement that the Hunan forces that marched against Hupei were almost entirely Hupei natives whose sole object was to oust the Tuchun, and in face of the formidable gathering around Hankow of Northern troops sent to assist Tuchun Wang it is believed now that the state of war between the two provinces will be of short duration.

Peking Ask Chang To Stand By Just Now

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 29.—It is stated semi-officially that the Government requested General Chang Tso-lin to postpone the departure of the Urga expedition on the ground that the situation in the Yangtsze Valley was a matter of more immediate concern than Urga, but the presence of Red forces in Outer Mongolia no doubt necessitated arrangement with Chita and the return of Mr. Yourin afforded an excellent opportunity to clear up the situation between China and Chita before the Fengtien troops left China.

Genl. Lu Declares War On Own Province, Say People

The telegram circulated by Lu Yung-hsiang, Tuchun of Chekiang, on Saturday, has produced a general uproar in Shanghai and elsewhere. Tuchun Lu in his message ordered the suspension of the election of Provincial Assemblymen for his province, and local bodies and Chekiang residents consider his action as a declaration of war against the people of his province and their retaliation is: "No representation, no taxation."

The following message was dispatched to Lu yesterday by Chekiang residents in Shanghai:

"You came to Chekiang as Military Governor. You had no extensive military plans, but you had gone outside your province in such schemes as the Currency Bureau, the San Meng Wan Reclamation Scheme and the Camphor Bureau and failed in every one of them.

"Even so, your wild ambition has not been discouraged. Under the pretext that you would enact a provincial constitution, you have recently assembled a large number of despondent politicians to stir up trouble in our political situation, causing great suspicion among the people. Now you are depriving us of our legislative rights.

"The Chekiang people have treated you with consideration. Each year, we supply $6,000,000 to $7,000,000 for your military expenses. If you had any conscience, you should have some love for Chekiang and you should not declare war against our people because you have fallen out with the central government as well as the Civil Governor.

"Of course, we are weak and can do nothing to you in the face of your declaration. But have you ever considered your own safety? Do you know that your subordinates are just as anxious to ruin you as you are to ruin us? You have long desired to hold the civil governorship concurrently, but the Central Government will not have you. Shen Ching-chien will not surrender his seat. You have military force behind you. You can easily seize the position yourself. Why do you go about it in such a round-about way? Why must you mask yourself under the pretext of a Provincial Constitution?

"Granted you succeed in writing the constitution for the province, we are not certain whether your own subordinates will not play such tricks as to ruin you. Sometime ago, you appeared to censor the conduct of Tsao Kun and Chang Tso-lin for their ambition. Today you have not only copied them, but have done what they would not do."

Messages in the same terms have been addressed to the Chekiang residents in Peking, the President and the Cabinet and local organisations in Chekiang.

Caravan Mafoo Can Give Odds To The Father Of Lies

By Bruce Hopper

Many and quaint are the devices used by the mafoos of western China to gather "face" along the caravan routes, but the one meriting the widest public esteem is to humbug the passing foreigner.

Pulling the wool on the stranger, wearing down his patience by sharp bargaining, gulling him, stringing him, driving him mad with the constant play of April Fool, such are the means taken to prove the superiority of Chinese sagacity.

The game is precarious, even for a Mohammedan Panthay of Yunnan, but the chief mafoo who is successful in chicanery becomes known as a kind of Benvenuto Cellini on the road, and carries more "face" than the magistrate.

The foreigner is perhaps a plain, blunt man, who loves his friends, but hits from the shoulder. The first three virtues win him the supreme contempt of Mr. Mafoo. But in the fourth he finds his final card in a showdown of strength, his passport, and often his only means of learning what seems to be the truth.

Coming from a land where the ideal, whether universally followed or not, is an instinct toward truth as unswerving as the needle to the pole, the traveller finds himself in a country where the instinct is to win by trickery even when fair means would gain the same end. He is handicapped at the start by an unfortunate acceptance of the given word. A few weeks of humbug, however, make him a cynical tyrant given to fits of truculence which would have shamed even the choleric Nero.

PURE JOY OF LYING

But the traveller's grievance is great. The mafoo neither tells nor believes the truth. He lies for the pure animal joy of deceiving the white man. He agrees to any stipulation of hire for increased pay, and then spends his days on the road thinking up means to defeat his employer's purpose. Every night after the mules are fed he comes in mocking servility to demand more advance money, arguing that the expenses of inn fare are heavy, or the price of beans too high.

The real intention sometimes is revealed by desertion, either because of fear or a more profitable venture. The only sure hold over a mafoo is to hold back the pay, and never allow him to get square with the books until the end of the specified journey is reached. His excuses for needing more money are as many-colored as Joseph's coat, the picturesque lie about lurking brigands, the payments to wild tribes, the exigencies of the toll stations, the purchasing of water in the dry areas, and of firewood. But when caught in his knavery he keeps an unblushing, straight face, and tells more lies in the lofty language of a maligned soul.

If the foreigner loses control of the caravan, as he certainly will should he advance too much money, he will be routed out of bed at 2 a.m. when 5 o'clock would do just as well. For sundry ridiculous reasons he will be denied a noon halt for rest, as the mafoo is a social creature and has des belle dames in the stopping places. Hence it is convenient for him to get into camp early in the afternoon, leaving the foreigner in the hot, fly ridden inn while he makes his calls, or gambles in the tea shops.

HIS PROTECTION CHEAP

One curious result of losing control is that Chinese merchants begin to clutter up the caravan. Travelling is dangerous at present and merchants find the prestige of the foreigner a cheap kind of protection. But if one merchant is allowed to join the caravan there will be others at every stop. When attacked in ambush the foreigner will be helpless in the confusion of scared Chinese, who serve him against the brigands only in so far as they draw the fire. Also the caravan must be a mobile unit to get by the barrage of the toll stations, for when a foreigner does not pay the soldiers flog his servants unless he is there to protect them.

The contagion of fear is every day apparent. The interpreter is bluffed by the cook, the cook is afraid of the mafoos, who in turn bow to the soldiers, and the whole crowd trembles at the very name of Lolo. An interesting psychological study can be made by poohpoohing the alarm stories repeated by the interpreter. The foreigner, although uneasy in his own mind, laughs at the scare tales, pats the interpreter with one hand, and the rifle with the other. Immediately the gentle interpreter becomes bold and speaks sharply to the cook, who uses unparliamentary language to the mafoos, who in turn tell the soldiers the foreign devil is a maniac, and likely to kill them if they interfere.

And thus goes the ring around arosy with the mafoos. One must take the offensive from the start, and keep it. They are the bluffest of bluffers, and the most imaginative of liars. The traveller's feelings fluctuate between amusement over the tricks that are vain, and exasperation over a few that are not so vain. All of which is the warp and woof of the unmitigated humbug of caravan traffic in western China.

Money For Airships Ready But Subsidy Is Asked British

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 31.—As regards the cost of the Imperial Airship Services, the Observer says the facts are that a certain financial enterprise is willing to provide the money for four years' development on condition that the Government guarantees an annual subsidy of £300,000.

China's Trade Has Tripled In Decade

10 Year Record

Value of China's imports in United States gold for the past ten years are as follows in 100 millions of dollars:

Year	Exch.	Value
1911	0.65	$305
1912	0.74	347
1913	0.73	416
1914	0.67	381
1915	0.62	281
1916	0.79	407
1917	1.05	577
1918	1.26	699
1919	1.39	899
1920	1.24	945

China's commerce in foreign commodities, despite a fall in exchange, showed a considerable rise in 1920 over the previous year, according to the Custom's report issued today and which go exhaustively into import commerce under 352 schedules showing in detail the origin of all the principal goods brought in for Chinese and foreign consumption.

While the gain this last year was under ten percent, yet the real progress of China as a buyer is enormous when the returns for 1911, ten years ago, are contrasted with those of 1920. The rise is slightly over 300 percent.

The poorest year was 1915 when exchange did not especially favor imports, since 100 Taels then would buy only $67 Gold worth of goods. In 1920, however, 100 Taels would buy $124, and the previous year, 1919, the rate reached $129. The rate today is only $69.25, which has brought sadness to many who failed to close their contracts early in the year. Despite this low rate, necessary purchases now are being made in fair amounts.

Wall Street Swelters While Mercury Climbs

(Reuter's Service)

New York, July 30.—The thermometer has recorded 90 degrees daily for a fortnight, during which time the temperature in the business quarter of the city has averaged over 100 degrees.

Considerable suffering has been caused among the poor, and a number of deaths have resulted from prostration. The beaches and parks are crowded nightly, while many wealthy business men are living in yachts anchored in the river. The roofs of many apartment houses have been temporarily converted into dormitories.

Better Feeling Now Exists Over Silesian Matter

tempt at insurrection, whether by Poles or Germans.

Paris, July 31.—Lord Hardinge, the British Ambassador to France, has informed M. Briand that the British Government has readily agreed to the French Premier's proposals in regard to Upper Silesia, and that the British Ambassador in Berlin would join with the French and Italian Ambassadors there in a joint demarche with a view to informing the German Government that it must in every way facilitate the passage of Allied troops through Germany, which the situation in Upper Silesia might necessitate at any moment.

Lord Curzon has proposed August 8 as the date of the meeting of the Supreme Council, as the Italian Premier will be unable to arrive in France earlier than that date. Mr. Lloyd George will attend the Council if the French Government so desires.

The tone of the British reply was most cordial.

London, July 31.—The strain to which the Entente has been subjected on account of the Silesian question is sufficiently indicated in the terms of the British note to France of the 29th, and Mr. Lloyd George's speech on the subject yesterday.

The latter has had the happiest effect in Paris, where the papers today reciprocate its spirit of frankness and conciliation, and express the hope that the understanding now reached will be the prelude to a still more complete agreement.

A very grave picture of the recent Anglo-French differences is drawn by the Sunday Times and the Observer. The former declares that the whole future of the Entente was jeopardised last week, and accuses the French Foreign Office of mischief-making.

The Observer says it is not merely a question of differences, but of wide divergence, and sometimes of direct conflict, on fundamental policy. It adds that the immediate issue is whether the Supreme Council shall continue or the Entente be dissolved, in accordance with France's neo-Napoleonic policy of aiming at the subjugation of Germany between French and Polish military power.

According to the Observer's Paris correspondent, anti-British songs and revues are now a feature of cabaret entertainments.

Paris, July 27.—At yesterday's meeting of the Ambassadors' Conference, M. Jules Cambon, who presided, submitted a joint telegram from the French, British and Italian High Commissioners in Upper Silesia, stating expressly that the Allied forces were too weak effectively to maintain order and prevent a fresh rising, and that any delay in sending reinforcements could only make the need more pressing.

IS YOUR BABY HEALTHY?
Here Is a Test

Happiness is sign of health in babies: if they are fretful and restless it is a sure indication that something is wrong.

Usually the cause of a baby's sleeplessness, crying, irritability, is stomach or bowel troubles, or teething pains. Baby's Own Tablets quickly restore restful sleep and the joyfulness of health to babes by dispelling stomach troubles, feverishness, constipation, colic, or diarrhoea. They make teething easy, break up colds and expel worms.

Mrs Q. E. Long, of Peachland, British Columbia, writes:—"My baby, now thirteen months old, has always been healthy except for the fever and restlessness accompanying teething and an occasional cold, but Baby's Own Tablets have proved so beneficial in these cases that I would not be without them."

Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, are obtainable from druggists, or post free at 60 cents the vial from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

HUNAN ASKS BIT OF SURTAX; SAYS MANY STARVING

Provincial Assembly Relies On Sympathy Of Peking To Release Money

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 28.—The Hunan Provincial Assembly has addressed the following appeal to the Government, and the International Famine Relief and North China Famine Relief Committees:

"Hunan has scarcely recovered from the devastating effects of repeated military operations. In addition, we are now actually under the throes of a wide-spread famine. The extent of suffering and the urgency of the need of relief are beyond description. We, the Provincial Assembly, with the heavy responsibility entrusted to us by the people of Hunan, cannot witness starvation and deaths in silence without making an effort to save the situation. We have sent, conjointly with other organisations, telegrams requesting that large sums may be remitted for relief work in this Province out of the amounts realised by the surcharge on State railways, telegraphs and other fares, and by the Maritime Customs surtax. These telegrams have no doubt received your sympathetic consideration.

"It is understood that the aforementioned surtax and surcharges were collected for the express purpose of giving relief to the famine areas. The burden of taxation was shared by the whole nation, of which Hunan is a part. Now that the relief work in the North has drawn to a close, and there are known to be considerable sums left over, it is reasonable and proper, and the famine areas in Hunan deem it necessary that we should appeal to your kindness of heart for just a portion of the money available; and we ask that, for the sake of the poor famished women and children, you will consent to remit the sums represented above.

"We have utter confidence in your equitable treatment of the Hunanese, who paid their share in these surtaxes, as compared with our Northern compatriots. Please remit directly to the Hunan Chinese Foreign Famine Relief Committee through the Asia Banking Corporation, Changsha branch."

Northcliffe Barred Says Curzon Did It

sought an interview with Lord Northcliffe on the Irish situation.

Mr. Wickham Steed, editor of the Times, telephoned this request to Lord Northcliffe, who replied "you know my mind, Steed. Give the gentleman my views, and look over his article."

After a formal interview, the reporter asked for an amplification of Mr. Steed's views, and Mr. Steed, supposing that these would not be published, emphasised the King's earnestness to secure peace in Ireland.

Then, in order to give the interviewer a background so as to enable him better to understand the situation, Mr. Steed quoted an imaginary conversation as an illustration of what the King might have had in mind. It appears that the reporter made the error of believing words to have been an actual quotation.

Mr. Wickham Steed, questioned with regard to his alleged interview by a representative of the New York Times, said that direct statements were attributed to him which he did not make.

He pointed out that it was possible that the Irish settlement was directly attributable to the King's speech at Belfast. The King was equally solicitous for all his subjects, and nothing would rejoice him more than to see peace in Ireland.

That alone, said Mr. Steed, was the sense of his quite informal talk with the representative of the New York Times.

The system of compulsory education proposed by Mr. Moh Hsian-yao, brother of Mr. H. Y. Moh of the Teh Dah and Hou Seng Cotton Mills, has been approved by the City Magistrate and will be enforced in the fall at Yang Shih Shang, the home of the Moh family. The Moh family has established 14 free schools but the village elders did not appear to be enthusiastic in sending their children to the school. Mr. Moh's scheme is to send the teachers of the schools to every family in the village to canvass for students. If the young people refuse, they will receive a call from the educational deputy authorised by the magistrate. The final warning for the delinquents will be a summons from the police.

KOBE POLICE STAB STRIKERS IN BACK; PROTEST IS MADE

Second Affray Results Over Attempt Of Dock Workers To Pray For Victory

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Kobe, July 31.—Several hundred strikers yesterday again attempted to enter the Nanko Shrine to pray for victory but the police blocked the gate and ordered the crowd to disperse. A scrimmage ensued in which the police unsheathed their sabres and wounded a number of strikers.

In the afternoon six members of the Prefectural Assembly called on Mr. Sakamoto, the Chief of the Prefectural Police, and criticised the action of the police, questioning the legality of their unsheathing their sabres except in self-defence and especially condemning the police for stabbing men in the back.

The Chief of the Prefectural Police temporised and promised to order an investigation into the affair.

HARD HITTING BEATS NAVY; THREE HOME RUNS FEATURE

Shanghai Nine Wins From Wilmington By 14-1 Score

MERRILL STARS

Hurler Works Well; Crow Gets Triple And Circuit Bang

A trio of home runs, along with sundry other slugging trifles, meant a total of 33 bases. These, with nearly airtight pitching by Merrill gave Shanghai an easy win over the gunboat Wilmington Sunday in the second game of the week-end series. The score was 14 to 1.

The Navy's one run was pushed over at the eleventh hour. Merrill presented Hudson with a pass. Hudson promptly stole. Fricke drove out his second hit of the Navy total of hitting, and Hudson scored. That tells the Navy's tale of attack.

The Shanghai sluggers gathered 17 hits in the afternoon's play. Three of these were homers, bringing the sum of Babe Ruth wallops off Wilmington hurlers for the week-end play up to a full half-dozen. There were three triples and a double in addition.

SMITH MOUNTS GUN

The Navy pitched a gob named Smith. It was the first time he had ever directed the fire for the gunboat. His range or aim was not too bad—(he gave five passes)—but his execution was poor.

Crow drove out the first circuit hit. It came in the third when none were on. The ball went far off into the shrubbery near the cricket club-house. It was the only run of the third inning, but the fourth of the game. The three previously counted resulted from mere singles and walks and a triple by Ladd.

Merrill got in the summary as a home runner in the seventh. He banged one to that same spot in left, which by the way seems to be the favored spot for all local Babe Ruths, in spite of the fact that it is the shortest field in the park. He scored Smith, who had singled through Yarwood, ahead of him.

The third homer went to Pruitt who on Saturday had established himself as a four-base slugger. His hit of Sunday, as on Saturday was to the short left field. He drove Ladd in ahead of him.

SOME CLOUTING, YES?

To total of home runs for Shanghai batsmen for the two week-end games was six. The total of hits in the two games was 30. Crow, Ladd and Pruitt each drove out triples Sunday in addition to their other efforts at the bat. Ladd hit safely four times out of six.

The Shanghai team when they first took the field Sunday had the appearance of a nondescript group. But it proved with trial to be a finely-balanced organisation. Smith and Wolfe at first and second grabbed off some difficult chances, and made them look easy. Crow at short and Ladd at third worked with the confidence of big leaguers. The battery was invincible. The Navy hadn't a chance.

GREAT SEASON OF CRICKET IS NOW OPENING

"O To Be In England Now That August Is Here"

BATTLE OF ROSES IS ON

Calls To Mind Records Of Great Players Of Other Years

BY WICKET KEEPER

Every cricketer in Shanghai would like to utter the poet's wish when he said "Oh, to be in England now that August's here."

I am quite aware that the poet said May or June, but for the nonce let it be August. There should be some great cricket.

First, and just think of it, there will be the Battle of the Roses. Yorkshire will be at home to Lancashire. What a game that always is! Sometimes it has been the Red Rose of Lancashire that has claimed the victory, at other times it has been the White Rose of Yorkshire that has carried all before it by the perfume of its prowess.

Looking back over the years that have past we call to mind players like Hirst, Tunnicliffe, Brown, Lord Hawke, Denton, Haigh, and Wilfred Rhodes. The last named, a veteran of over forty, is certain to be playing against his old friends and rivals of Lancashire.

This year's latest results, and averages, show that the wonderful bowler and batsman is still near the top, and his deft handed slows are still gathering in scores of wickets.

SOME OLD STARS

Twenty years ago the saying was "All Rhodes leads to the pavilion." It is very much the same today. And then Lancashire! Maclaren—the batsman who put up a score of 424, the biggest, I believe by any batsman in first cricket—Hornby, the most graceful of all bats, as well as the most popular of captains; Mold, the bowler, the Tydesley family—with a member in the team to play this week. Grand names, with great traditions! It would be good to see the Battle of the Roses.

SURREY vs. NOTTS

Surrey meets Notts! Call to mind Shrewsbery, A. E. Jones, the Gunns—and didn't the wonderful little Daft play for Notts? And then Surrey!

Probably the most popular of all cricketing counties, with the possible exception of Kent or Yorkshire. Memories of Richardson, the fastest bowler of his time, the man who clean bowled seven men with seven successive balls and Lockwood, another wonderful trundler; Bobbie Abel, the "Little Guvnor;" Marshall, the tall Australian; Lord Dalmeny, one of the most popular of skippers—wonderful names cricketers all but now no more in the sunshines. Today fine players like Hobbs, Ducat, Abel (junior), Hitch, and little Strudwick carry on worthy traditions. Notts meets Surrey! A great game to see.

WARNER AND HEARNE

Middlesex plays Kent. Middlesex with its Plum Warner. Plum, the ideal captain, who took a team to Australia and carried back "The Ashes." Plum with his funny little Zingari cap, and his benevolent bald head! How often have I seen him glancing a ball to leg, getting a beautiful late cut, driving a four to the off, or putting a soft one between square leg and mid-on! Plum plays no more, but his spirit still leads Middlesex to victory. Another player that comes to mind is J. T. Hearne.

Was there ever a bowler with an easier action? J. T. was the idol for many a year. Today another Hearne carries on the good work for Middlesex that J. T. began. Kent, with its Lord Harris, and its score of other names is one of the nurseries of King Cricket. Kent Week is probably the most popular week in English cricket. What a wonderful game to witness! Middlesex plays Kent!

Oh, to be in England now that August's here!

South Wales Scores 213 Against Aussies

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 30.—The Australians visited Swansea today, where they opened a match against a representative South Wales eleven.

The weather was dull, and the wicket somewhat soft.

South Wales batted first, and were dismissed for 213. The principal feature of the innings was the second-wicket partnership of N. V. H. Riches and Bates, which yielded 151, and is the highest yet made against the Australians in the present tour.

Riches' contribution was 75 and Bates's 79.

Armstrong took five wickets for 61 runs. At close of play the Australians had scored 50 for the loss of one wicket.

NINTH CAVALRY DEFEATS STARS BY 6-2 SCORE

Scott Holds Tientsin To Small Score In Spite Of Many Errors

The Ninth Cavalry baseball team which will play a series of six games here commencing August 9, defeated the Tientsin All Star nine Thursday last by the score of 6-2. The game was slow but good.

The Stars registered their two runs in the second inning on an error, a steal and a passed ball, after which Miller walked and scored on Riley's double. The Cavalry got one in the third on two singles, a steal, a sacrifice fly. In the fourth two more runs resulted mainly from Tientsin errors. In the sixth the Ninth scored two more and in the seventh one.

The score follows:

Gande Wins July Cup In Clay Pigeon Club Shoot

W. J. Gande won the July Cup competition of the Shanghai Clay Pigeon Club, in the shoot on Sunday afternoon by topping the list of 13 entrants with the high score of 38 2-3 birds out of a possible 40.

Shooting was extremely difficult owing to a west wind which kept the birds very low. The forty birds were shot from Leggett Traps under the club handicaps.

Mr. Gande's score was 35 plus 3 2-3 handicap, for the total of 38 2-3.

A 40-bird sweep followed the July Cup shoot. This was won by Mr. Himrod, with 35 breaks plus 7½ handicap, for a total score of 42½.

Next Sunday the Holiday Cup will be shot for. The handicap will be a sealed one. Sunday's scores follow:

Sporting Editor's Letter Box

Sporting Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sunday's baseball game at the race track, between the Shanghai and Wilmington teams, was marked by conduct on the part of the sailor spectators—and two, at least, of the sailor players—that was nothing less than disgraceful. In the early part of the game the umpire, himself a marine attached to the Wilmington, called one of the Wilmington players out at the plate, a decision that was absolutely correct, since Griffiths, the Shanghai catcher, had the navy runner completely blocked out, and touched him out fully three feet from the plate.

From then until the end of the game the sailor spectators "rode" the umpire, keeping up a continual harrangue that absolutely spoiled the day for everybody else present, including those, who, unlike the sailors, paid for the privilege of witnessing the contest. No baseball fan objects to a little partisan criticism of the umpire, particularly when he makes a close decision at a critical period of a game. But in this instance the decision meant nothing, for the sailors were six runs behind and completely outclassed.

Two of the navy substitutes, possessing about as much wit as baseball ability, as indicated by the fact that they are only substitutes on what probably is the weakest team that ever played in this port, essayed to be witty, and proved to the satisfaction of everybody present that as comedians they were first class coal passers.

A few more exhibitions like the one staged by the sailors Sunday and it will be moved and unanimously carried by those who furnish the wherewithal for maintaining baseball in this town to relegate the sailor spectators to choice seats on the grass along the outfield sidelines, where their "wit" will not nauseate the other spectators.

WATER POLO PUT ON LEAGUE BASIS

Rowing Club, With Two Teams, Will Compete Against S.A.C. And Police

League fixtures for water polo were decided upon and other matters of interest to local swimming enthusiasts came up for consideration last evening at a meeting of the Shanghai Amateur Swimming Association.

With reference to polo matches it was announced that the Rowing Club will put in two teams against the Shanghai International Swimming Club and the Police. Water polo matches will be held at the Rowing Club every Wednesday, every Thursday at the Municipal Bath on Police nights and every Tuesday and Friday at the same bath on I. S. C. nights.

It was also decided at the meeting to add to the local swimming championships the 100-yard back stroke and the 100-yard breast stroke events.

The events which will probably be held in the forthcoming Interport contests will be the 100-yard, 220-yard, 440-yard and 880-yard swims, long plunge, throwing the polo ball, diving, 100-yard back stroke, water polo and team race, to take place in Hongkong September 29 and 30 and October 1.

The Police water polo men will meet a team from H.M.S. Magnolia on Thursday at 9 p.m. at the Municipal Bath. The Police team will probably be:

Ling, Jefferson (Captain), Stubbings, Webb, Watson, Pelling and Bishop. Reserves—Jones, Wilson, Eva.

HONG LEAGUE OFF FOR SEASON AS A.T.C. BEATS A.M.

Traders Win By 13-6 Score In Well Played Game

The Hong Baseball League got away yesterday afternoon at the Race Course in a shower of rain, runs, hits and errors. The American Trading company won over the Anderson Meyer outfit after five innings by a score of 13-6.

The first Hong Leaguers of the season played remarkable ball. The game was fairly even up until the fifth when with the darkness and the rain, the Anderson Meyer men went to pieces. Gray lost control. He walked several men, and they advanced around for six runs on three hits and several errors. Harris, who relieved him, stopped the slaughter by mere control.

Gink Fowler Hanna's team in the first inning put over five runs. A. M. Co. got two in the first, one in the second and three in the third, taking the game into the fourth inning at 7-6 in their favor. Here the game became interesting again. A. M. Co. failed to score in their half. Gale, Nichols of Atraco singled, Hanna walked and Nelson drove the leading run over by a nice drive to left field. In the fifth A. M. Co. failed to tally again and the Trading Co. piled up six more to cinch it.

Morrison for A. M. Co. drove out two homers in his first two times at bat, and added another single to his average later in the game. Arnold singled three times.

The teams lined up as follows:

A. M. Co.—Stevens, LF, Arnold, 1B, Harris, 3B and P, Morrison CF, Griffiths C, Sanders SS, Neal 2B and 3B, Whitehead RF, Gray P and 2B.

A. T. Co.—Gale 2B, Pung 3B, Nichols SS, Hanna 1B, Nelson C, Osorio LF, Kline CF, Strawn RF, Young P.

JOHNSTON WINS OVER WILLIAMS AT LAWN TENNIS

Challenge Round For Longwood Bowl Goes To America's Second Best Player

SCORES 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 8-6

Loser, Ranked As No. 3, Rated As Most Brilliant Player Of All Time

(Reuter's Service)

Boston, July 30.—W. M. Johnston, holder, today defeated R. Norris Williams, 2nd, in the challenge round of the lawn tennis competition for the Longwood Bowl, 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 8-6.

Johnston is one of the really great match players of America. He has been National Champion twice, winning the title in 1915 and 1919. He was ranked as No. 2 for 1921, second only to William T. Tilden, the National Champion.

Tilden and Johnston have opposed the principal players of the world in tournaments as well as in cup ties. They have been conceded the position of the two best tennis players of the world today.

Williams, ranked as No. 3, to Tilden and Johnston is classed as one of the most brilliant players of the game. He has also been classed as erratic, and inclined to play unsafe. His speed and brilliancy according to American tennis authorities have lost him many a match. Critics say of him that he cannot play a commonplace game. Williams first came into national prominence ten years ago when a student at Harvard.

RECENT CONTEST DECLARED TIE IN NEW RULING

British And American Teams Each Win Five Events In Field Meeting

(Reuter's Service)

New York, July 30.—With reference to the athletics contest between a team representing Oxford and Cambridge and one representing Princeton and Cornell Universities, which resulted in each team winning five events, the Athletic Committee has reversed its decision that second places should count, and has declared the result a tie.

WAYSIDE WINS FROM JUNIORS IN SEMI-FINAL; RECS ON TOP

Sem'-Final In Lawn Bowls Rink Tourney Sees 31-17 Score

CLUB BEATEN

S. R. C. Men Defeat S.L.B.C. By 29 Points; Jones Honored

BY "THE SHOT"

The match between the Juniors and Wayside took place on Sunday afternoon on a selected Recreation Club rink. The Waysiders attended in force to see their team in action but the Juniors were not very interested in their pets, very few Hongkewites being on the banks.

The game was in a way peculiar, as Rab and his merry men did what the deuce they liked with the Juniors until the 10th end when they led 24 points to nil. From this the losers pulled themselves together and bowled something like championship form.

Sam Chilvers won the toss and lay one shot until Sandy Malcolm rested him out. Mac and Rossie played short and allowed a three. The second and third end were a repetition of this except that Rab nudged Sam's shot out with his last wood and made a four of it. Sam Chilvers seemed to become imbued with the spirit prevailing over his mates and from here to the 10th end it was quite a procession, the Waysiders just taking it in turn as to who should put up the counters.

SAMMY HELPS OUT

Just when the knowy heads were cogitating as to what constituted the record score in local circles, the Juniors commenced to play bowls, Sammy doing the needful by scoring with a toucher which was very much appreciated by the Waysiders lining the banks. From now on, trundling of the highest class was displayed by both teams, with Chilvers always laying the

HURON REGULARS WIN TWO GAMES FROM "RED" NINE

Flagship Team Beats Bolsheviki 6-0 And 15-2; Officers Play

(China Press Correspondence)

Chefoo, July 26.—The Huron ship's team and the flagship Bolsheviki met today and Wednesday in five inning games and the former each time scored an easy win. Today's total was 15-2, while Wednesday's was 6-0.

Draper, pitching for the ship's team on Wednesday held the Bolshies to a shutout and two hits, but today he was touched up for 6 safeties. Hawkes for the Red's on Wednesday had the ship's team held down to 3 hits, but was wild today and not so effective. His support in either game was ragged.

Roberts, Lamke, Newman and King all showed well at bat today. Newman, the Bolshies' catcher looks fit to substitute Horner as the ship's team backstop. Three new men are now playing: Lieutenants Kirtland, formerly of the U. S. S. Lea, Ensign Lewis, a try-out for second, and Lieut. Hughes, an outfielder.

The scores follow:

Wayside Wins From Juniors In Semi-Final

foundation for a favorable end for Rossie.

The 15th end was perhaps the best, as a "Kisser" by Sam was, oh, so gently nudged out by Alec Macgregor. Rossie returned the favor only to see Bobby draw the jack and lay two. With his final wood Rossie again did the needful with a dead draw. Although, when the Juniors did come to life they scored 17 to their opponents eight it cannot be denied that the best team won. Of the players, Chilvers was easily the best of the Juniors and was the only one who showed anything like championship form. Both Rossie and Mac were too spasmodic in their efforts and were miles below their form. It is hard to individualise on the winning side but I should give the palm to Alex Macgregor, who played a clockwork game after the first 3 ends. Malcolm was a glorious third wood and without wishing to detract from Bobbies' performance, he struck me as being the brains of the rink. Archie Taylor played his usual game and those who know him will be quite aware that it was a deadly one.

Bob's skipping and playing does not lend itself to criticism and I feel sure his team were quite satisfied with his display—I was. The following is the score:

Waysiders 32 Juniors 17

RECS WIN EASILY

The Recs again were in their element when playing the club on Sunday afternoon and made no mistake about their win, taking four out of the six games and winning by 29 points. The Club's genial vice-Captain said all sorts of nice things about them after the match and one thing I do admire about the S. L. B. C., they can take a defeat in the same wholehearted manner in which they win their games.

Previous to the match Mr. Frank Jones was the guest of the Recs bowlers at tiffin as a mark of appreciation ere he leaves for home. Replying to the President's toast Frank dwelt upon the glorious qualities imbued in the game of lawn bowls, and emphasised the fact, that in these games it was up to the club to do all they could to give all the novices a chance to play. "Maskee the win," said Frank, play the game and if you have the personnel for 10 rinks, put it to the big club and they'll oblige you.

Frank had the honor of playing both on Saturday and Sunday, when his rink in each case won by the largest number of points. In yesterday's game four spoons for the biggest winners were won by Messrs. T. Poignand, F. Jones, Dicky Brandt and W. David.

Father Le Cornec, Of St. Joseph's, Dies Of Heat Prostration

Reverend Father Ludovicus Le Cornec, 47 years a Jesuit and over 30 years a priest in China, died late Sunday night at the presbytery of St. Joseph's Church, with which he had been affiliated the past five years. Heat prostration was the cause of his death. Solemn High Mass of requiem will be celebrated at St. Joseph's this morning at 7 o'clock, and burial will be at the Jesuit Cemetery, Sen Mou Dong.

Known to Catholics in Shanghai and nearby for his long period of service at Soochow, as superior of the Sunkiang District, as head of the Sacred Heart Parish on Nanzing Road in Hongkew and later at St. Joseph's Church, the death of Father Le Cornec will be deeply mourned.

Born at Vannes, in Brittany, nearly 65 years ago, Ludovicus Le Cornec joined the Society of Jesus at Laval, France. He was then 18 years of age. Part of his scholastic life was at Siccawei where he was ordained a priest. He was stationed first at Soochow, later becoming superior of the District and while at the head of this part of the Kiangnan Diocese, he built part of the Jesuit establishment at Tso Zei.

Father Le Cornec was very active and took part in the work of various local Catholic Societies. He was the chaplain to St. Joseph's Convent on Rue Montauban for the past three years and was known and loved by hundreds of students and graduates of that institution.

Sunday morning Father Le Cornec heard confessions and said his Mass. For the past three years he has heard confessions prior to the Low Mass at 8:15 o'clock. In the afternoon he assisted at the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and although he had complained of the heat since Friday, he appeared to be in good health. Shortly before dinner he told the other Fathers that he would go to his room. At 11 o'clock he was stricken and shortly before midnight he died.

Father Le Cornec leaves a brother in Brittany.

Street Union Splits As Member Is Charged With Election Fraud

Another tempest is raging in the camp of the Street Unions. The Council of Amalgamated Street Unions, consisting of the accredited delegates from the various street unions and the executive officers, has demanded the recall of Lu Ching-tsai, delegate from Hankow Road, for alleged misconduct in the recent primary election. The Hankow Road Union has been requested to send another delegate to replace Lu.

It is alleged that Lu and Chang Shao-tseng, for whom a warrant has been issued by the Defense Commissioner as a result of rioting at the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce during the rice strike, acted in collusion and manufactured false lists of voters in Shanghai in order to secure blank ballots from the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce. Consequently, both were elected at the recent election conducted in Nantao.

The Hankow Road organisation, at a meeting presided over by Lu, discussed the action of the federation and the members proposed to sever connections with the association. According to the Chinese press, Lu prevailed upon the meeting not to take such a step but to await developments.

Swiss Celebrate National Birthday

Switzerland's national birthday was celebrated in Shanghai by local Swiss and their friends. Major Isler, appointed representative here, held a reception in the salon of the Astor House between 11:30 and 12:30. The Swiss hongs flew the flag of the republic, the white cross on a red field.

The holiday celebrates the solemn defensive league and covenant against the Austrians made August 1, 1921, by the men of Uri, Unterwalden and Schwyts. That covenant is regarded as the foundation of the Swiss Confederation.

WOMEN AID WAR BY PRESENTS TO ARMY IN FIELD

(China Press Correspondence)

Canton, July 24.—An example of what the women in Canton can do in war relief, in the present campaign against the Kwangsi militarists, can be seen by the results of the Canton Women's War Relief Society, an organisation entirely managed by women free from government support and masculine help.

The different plans conceived to raise money and useful articles for the soldiers who are defending the province at the front, are now being carried out by the members of the Society. So successful are the plans that more than 20,000 packages of presents have been secured and sent to the soldiers while a large sum of money has also been obtained for the purchase of other useful articles, such as underwear, towels, mosquito nets, sandals, toilet articles, biscuits, etc.

One of the most novel plans of the Society is the present Bazaar, which is now being held at the New World Amusement Park, where arts, curios, handwritings of prominent men and drawings by well known artists are offered for sale, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the Society in the interest of war relief. The Bazaar which opened on July 24 promises a grand success and it is reported that the sale of scrolls and drawings alone netted the Society about $3,000. As the Bazaar is open for one week, there is no doubt that a very large sum can be realised.

Belgium Asks Place In Supreme Council Of Nations League

(Reuter's Service)

Brussels, July 30.—Belgium will probably be represented at the next meeting of the Supreme Council. The Belgian Foreign Minister has asked M. Briand to include in the agenda of the conference the questions of the famine in Russia and the sentences passed by the Leipzig Tribunal which has been trying war criminals.

The French and Belgian Governments have decided to abolish passports as between their respective countries.

London, August 1.—According to the Daily Mail the Imperial Conference will today deal with the report of the sub-committee on air communications. It is expected that an experimental scheme will be adopted, beginning with the development of the airship routes to India, of which Cairo will be the first stage. If the experiments are a success, developments in the direction of Australia and South Africa will follow.

Russian Opera Co.

Further changes in the farewell programs of the Russian Opera company announce that "Il Trovatore" will be sung Thursday night, and a grand performance of the first act of "La Boheme" and the second act of "Mignon" on Saturday night.

The proceeds of the last night's performance will go to the Russian Benevolent Society. The company leaves Shanghai for Japan where a season of six weeks has been booked.

ANTI-OPIUM CONFERENCE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 30.—The Ministry of the Interior proposes to hold an anti-opium conference in Peking, to which the provinces will be invited to send representatives. Mr. Cha Eng-hao has been instructed to go into the matter and make final arrangements.

Wu Sits Tight When Wang Asks Others Aid

(From Chinese Press Wires)

Peking August 1.—Latest reports from Paotingfu indicate that General Wu Pei-fu, central figure in the Hupeh-Hunan controversy, is not proceeding to the scene of activities for the present. The reasons given for his procrastination are the proposed march of Dr. Sun Yat-sen on Hupeh himself and the indiscreet way in which Tuchun Wang Chan-yuan of Hupeh is asking for aid.

Wang, while asking Wu to send no more troops to his province, is appealing to all Northern militarists for aid. Even the forces already sent to Hupeh by Wu are not trusted at all by Wang. The well-known crack division of Wu is being used for the second line of defense. The vanguards of Hupeh compose of two divisions of Wang's own men under the command of Sun Shan-fang, Wang's aide-de-camp, while the right and left flanks are under the command of Liu Sha-lung and Wang Tu-ching respectively.

General Hsiao Yao-nan, the Chihli commander, is Commander-in-Chief of all expeditionary forces from other provinces, but he is asked to hold only the second line of defense. The Shantung and Honan brigades are stationed round the Hanyang Arsenal.

BATTLE LINE DRAWN

The battle line is drawn along Chungyang, Puchi, Chiayu, Tungcheng, Peiluchi, Chienli, Shihshu and Kungan, while the second line of defense is formed along Hankow, Hanyang, Hsiennling and Tsanyu. Only Wang Chan-yuan's trusted forces are allowed within Wuchang, the provincial capital.

The first clash between Hunanese and Hupeh troops took place at Wulipei on Friday morning. Fighting continued till Saturday afternoon. Both sides suffered minor casualties. The Hunanese showed up better than their opponents.

According to the official report of Wang Chan-yuan, there are at present already more than 60,000 soldiers defending his province, requiring $500,000 for military and $70,000 naval expenses for each month.

In reply to the request of Wang Chan-yuan for four airplanes, the Aeronautical Department has stated that on account of the stipulations in the airplane loan from Messrs. Vickers Company, London, no airplanes were to be used for military purposes.

Chi Shih-yuan, Tuchun of Kiangsu, whose mediation proposal has been ignored by both Chao Heng-ti of Hunan and Wang Chan-yuan of Hupeh, is now changing his policy and it is expected will throw in his lot with the Hupeh warlord, who has appealed to him for help. He will send the 19th division under the command of Yang Chun-han. Kiangsu maintains four divisions and seven mixed brigades and pays over eleven million dollars every year for them.

Kwangsi Militarists' Own Acts Caused Defeat

(China Press Correspondence)

Canton, July 24.—Nanning, the capital of Kwangsi has fallen. Warlord Lu Yung-ting has fled to Annam and together with him also went the other militarists of the Kwangsi province. The whole province is now under the control of the Cantonese troops, thereby solidifying the whole South-west in support of President Sun's government established at Canton.

Precisely one month has elapsed since the outbreak of hostilities between the Cantonese troops and those of the Kwangsi military party which ruled over Kwangsi for years, working in the interest of the unconstitutional government in Peking and in defiance of the Government at Canton.

At the very beginning of the campaign, when the Cantonese troops took up arms against the invasion of this province by these militarists, the Kwangsi troops were defeated in nearly every battle and city after city was captured by the Cantonese troops.

NANNING IS TAKEN

The invaders were forced to retreat step by step into the very heart of Kwangsi until the 20th inst. when the Cantonese troops triumphantly entered Nanning and took over the administration of the province.

The militarists themselves invited their defeat, for had they heeded the advice given them by General Chen Chiung-ming before the outbreak of hostilities urging them to sever their relations with the Peking Government, and win the confidence of the people by a better government of the province, the campaign would not have started and they would not have to flee in disgrace.

Instead, these militarists started the campaign by invading Kwangtung with the hope of extending their military rule into this province and thereby please the Peking Government.

The defeat of the Kwangsi militarists is brought about not so much by the success in arms of the Cantonese as by the militarists themselves, who oppressed the Kwangsi people and ignored their wishes. The moral support of the Kwangsi people in the campaign was on the side of the Cantonese troops who were welcomed by the people in every city.

PEOPLE AID INVADERS

Every possible assistance was given the Cantonese by the people, so anxious were they in trying to have the military party in their province completely crushed.

The military rule in Kwangsi is now destroyed and a new era of democratic government in the province is beginning. With the defeat of the Kwangsi militarists, also has gone the hope of the Peking Government of subduing the Southwest, while the authority of the Government at Canton is maintained and its influence strengthened.

Although the militarists are now defeated and driven out of the province, the duty of the Cantonese is not yet finished, for the province needs the reconstruction after suffering for so long under the misrule of these defeated militarists. Many reforms will have to be introduced. Brigandage will have to be suppressed so as to ensure the safety of the province. The people will have to be assisted in their fight for self-government. The duty of the Cantonese authorities toward the people of Kwangsi is not yet finished, but they will make every effort to reconstruct the province and promote the welfare of its people.

Obituary

JOHN W. FENTON

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 1.—The funeral was held this morning of the late Mr. John Wharton Fenton, who died yesterday morning after a long illness, complicated by internal troubles, at the age of 59 years.

The deceased came to the Far East in 1885 and entered the Customs. During the Boxer rising he acted as Reuter's correspondent and was present at the taking of the Taku and Lutai forts. Subsequently he became manager of the Tientsin Press and later a member of the firm of Tipper and Fenton, agents of the China Mutual Life Insurance Company. For many years he was a prominent rider in Tientsin and owned many celebrated ponies.

The keenest sympathy is felt for his two daughters in Peking, one of whom recently arrived from England, and also for his wife who is now at home.

Mr. D. W. Murphy, who succeeded Captain W. I. Eisler as Marine Superintendent of the Standard Oil Company, has resigned that position and has been appointed Engineer Surveyor of the American Bureau of Shipping (American Lloyd's) and has joined the firm of Eisler and Reeves—which now becomes the firm of Eisler, Reeves and Murphy—marine engineers and cargo surveyors.

Mr. Murphy's long experience as a designer and surveyor and his familiarity with the work in the Orient should make him a very valuable member of the local firm.

Religion No Suit Of Sunday Clothes Is Belief Of Essayist

Dr. Hodgkin Tells Y.M.C.A. Men Of Unreality Of Some Aspects Of Life

Speaking before the Y.M.C.A. secretaries who are gathered from all over China for a month's study, on the Demand for Reality, Dr. Hodgkin said:

"A man may have a few beautiful ideals which can be displayed in the shop windows or advertised from the pulpit. These are his religious window dressing—the things he wishes his neighbors to regard as his religion. His life may be a long battle between the beliefs by which he lives and the beliefs by which he would like to live or by which he would like to be thought to live.

"But his religion is part of the man himself: it never can be the suit of clothes he wears in public, and least of all his Sunday best. The great need of our time is to shatter this unreality and bring men back to truth. The way to find the truth is for each of us candidly to examine his own actions and from them deduce what his religion actually is.

"From that starting point and from that alone, can we begin to find our way to the religion by which we ought to live."

Peking Will Probe Shanghai Trust Cos.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 30.—The Ministry of Commerce has ordered the suspension of about twenty trust companies and commercial exchanges at Shanghai, which are not registered.

The suppression of the trust companies and commercial exchanges, which are threatening the financial stability of Shanghai, is expected to be carried out with the co-operation of the Consular Body in Shanghai. It is understood that the Peking Government has already secured the consent of the Diplomatic Corps in Peking to head off these adventurous enterprises.

SIX BUREAUX TO RUN CANTON ON MODERN PLAN

(China Press Correspondence)

Canton, July 24.—In spite of the many obstacles due to skeptic or over conservative businessmen, impeding the progress of the Canton Municipality, remarkable achievements have been made by the authorities of the Municipality. The opening of roads, the establishment of new public schools and the improvement of old ones, the introduction of traffic regulations and restrictions on the sale of quack medicines and questionable foods, are beginning to bring good results.

The Municipality with its six Bureaux is a new thing to Chinese cities and Canton is the first city in China to have adopted this form of city government based entirely upon modern ideas. For the first time in the history of Canton a budget has been adopted.

More than a million dollars has been appropriated for the Bureau of Public Safety or the Police Department while for the Bureau of Education more than half a million will be used and about $275,000 has been appropriated for the Bureau of Public Health. The sum of $538,670 will be appropriated for the Bureau of Public Works.

For a city of the size of Canton, these meagre appropriations may not be adequate, but in view of the present circumstances, the municipal authorities are to be congratulated for doing as much as they have for the good of the city.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIMPSON, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and efficient laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
F. GERALD BLATTNER, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I have prescribed Castoria in families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILSON, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."

NEW RULES FOR MINES PASSED BY CHITA GOVT.

(Dalta News Agency)

Peking, July 29.—We have received for publication the following fundamental laws of the Far Eastern Republic governing the gold-bearing areas of the Republic and annulling old regulations:

"1. All gold-bearing areas under exploitation or otherwise, as well as the former imperial areas in Nerchinsk district are hereby declared the property of the Republic.

"2. All rights to the ownership and exploitation of areas mentioned in Art. 1, under agreements and titles granted before the promulgation of this law, shall be null and void within three months from June 15, 1921.

"3. The right of exploitation of gold bearing areas granted under the "Rules for Private Exploitation of Gold Mines," to be promulgated, reserves the title to former owners of the areas.

"Former owners and concessionaires of gold mines and areas not yet under exploitation are obliged to make a written declaration to the local mining departments of their desire to continue operations in mines or to start such operations where the work has not yet been commenced within 3 months from the date of promulgation of this law.

"The absence of such declaration within the specified time will be considered as renunciation of the rights of the former owner or concessionaire.

"For persons residing outside the boundaries of the republic the time for declaration is extended to 6 months from June 15.

"4. The owner of a gold mine, which was exploited by a lessee, if the former party desires to expoit the mine, has a priority but must compensate the lessee for all improvements. In case both lessor and lessee are unable to agree as to the price for the improvements, such price will be fixed according to paragraph 5 of the law. If the owner refuses to operate his mine according to the rules this right is automatically transfered to the lessee.

"5. In case the former owner or the lessee of a mine refuses to continue operations according to these rules and in case the Government should be desirous of acquiring the improvements and machinery, the former owner or the lessee must be paid the value of improvements according to the valuation of a commission appointed by the local mining department and including representatives of the Department of State control and representatives of the owner or the lessee of the mine. Exception is made in regard to the buildings and hydraulic installations which pass to the Government of the F. E. R. without compensation.

"The commission shall estimate the value of improvements according to their actual value, deducting a suitable amount for depreciation. The movable property not directly connected with mining operations, or any other property not required by the Government, must be removed by the owner of such property within a year from the date he relinquishes his right of operating. Otherwise such property becomes the property of the Republic without compensation.

"6. Gold mining enterprises which have become the property of the state during the revolution may be returned to former owners or lessees for exploitation as a concession by special decrees of the Government, which will be published in the official organ of the Government.

(Signed) Chairman N. Matveeff,
for Government
Petroff,
for Council of Ministers."

Tribute Is Paid To Late Mr. A. C. Gayot By French Officials

Albert Charles Gayot, chancellor of the French consulate, after weeks of suffering following the developments of a bite from his own dog, died in St. Mary's hospital Saturday night.

The funeral service was held in St. Joseph's church yesterday at 6 p.m. Interment was in Lukawei cemetery.

Leaving the church the coffin, covered by the French flag and floral wreaths, was borne by one of the fire autos of the French Concession. A second auto was required to carry the additional flowers offered as last tribute by Mr. Gayot's fellow officials in the consulate, and his many friends in Shanghai. Accompanying the coffin was seen the bicorn hat he wore at consular functions, and his sword of office.

A patrol from the French gunboat, D'Estrees, with fixed bayonets, formed the guard of honor.

Over the grave Mr. H. Wilden, French Consul-General, spoke feelingly of the loss to the community, and to France, of Mr. Gayot's splendid services, of his many charities and upright life. He was esteemed by all who knew him. The speaker and many of those who came to do honor by their presence were in tears. M. du Pac de Marsoulies added a few words.

Among the officials at the ceremony were H. Wilden, D. de La Prade, P. Crepin, and R. Orlandi of the French consulate.

M. Gayot was 40 years old, consul of the 3rd class in charge of the chancellerie. He first came to Shanghai in 1906, was sent to Manila as vice-chancellor in 1911, and to Hongkong in 1913, after which he returned here. Mr. Gayot was unmarried. He leaves several relatives in France.

Mr. Gayot hovered between life and death for several weeks. His little dog, which is supposed to have bitten him, died of the rabies late in June. Mr. Gayot took the Pasteur treatment, and 13 days later developed paralysis from the waist down, which slowly increased until his death Saturday night.

YOURIN ENTERTAINS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 30.—Mr. Yourin, Representative of the Russian Far Eastern Republic is entertaining a number of foreign and Chinese pressmen this afternoon, at tea.

CUT PRICE DECORATIONS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 30.—The Cabinet decided today that in future all foreign employes of the Government, members of the Manchu House and Mongolian, Thibetan and Mohammedan Princes and Dukes will be required to pay one-half of the usual fee in connection with decorations conferred upon them.

BOYCOTT WALES' VISIT IS URGED ON ALL INDIANS

(Reuter's Service)

Bombay, July 31.—A meeting of the All India Congress Committee to decide on the future plan of campaign passed, it is understood, a resolution in favor of boycotting the Prince of Wales' visit to India and another resolution urging the complete boycott of foreign cloth on the lines suggested by Mr. Ghandi, the Nationalist leader.

WANT FISH COMMISSION

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 30.—The Ministry of the Navy recently suggested that Admiral Liu Kuang-hsiung, former Minister of the Navy should be appointed Tupan to control affairs relating to fishery along the coasts of China. The Ministry is of opinion that a special department must be established to place the fishing industry on a proper footing. It is reported, however, that the matter has been shelved owing to opposition on the part of the Ministry of Commerce.

FAMINE FREIGHT RATES

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 30.—On the proposal of the Ministry of Communications, the Cabinet today approved a set of regulations providing for reduced freights on Government railways for the transportation of grain for famine relief and for the purchase of grain to be sold at cost by the Government to the famine sufferers.

U.S. IS UNSHAKEN ON PANAMA ISSUE

Hughes Insists, Despite Dr. Garay's Representations, Republic Must Accept Award

Washington, June 18.—The position taken by Panama in the boundary dispute with Costa Rica is not regarded as sound by the United States Government. The discussions of Dr. Narciso Garay, Panaman Minister of Foreign Affairs, with State Department officials have not changed the position heretofore taken by Secretary Hughes.

The State Department does not agree with the view of Dr. Garay that a likely outcome of the Panama-Costa Rica dispute is a League of American Nations similar to the League of Nations created by the Paris Peace Conference. In fact, the Department is known to be fully convinced that the most likely outcome is that Panama's position will be definitely shown to be unsound.

The position heretofore taken by Secretary Hughes has been that the boundary award made by the late Chief Justice White is just and should be accepted by Panama. While Panama contends she is within her sovereign rights in challenging the White award, which favored Costa Rica, the United States maintains that Panama expressly agreed to accept this award, no matter what it might be, and must do so.

For the United States to have taken any other position, in view of its peculiar relations to Panama, it was pointed out, would have invited the distrust of all other Latin-American nations and laid this Government open to the charge that it had deliberately disregarded a duly authorised arbitral award to favor Panama. The reaction from Latin-America generally has been distinctly favorable to the position taken by Secretary Hughes.

Conseil D'Administration Municipale De La Concession Francaise de Changhai

MUNICIPAL LOAN OF 1921

(20,000 debentures of Tls. 100 each).

Rate of interest 8% per annum

The "Conseil d'Administration Municipale de la Concession Francaise de Changhai" hereby invite subscriptions for 20,000 debentures of Tls. 100 each, according to the resolution passed at their General Meeting on May 30, 1921.

The conditions on which the Debenture Certificates will be issued are:—

1°—The Debenture Certificates are transferable, and the person whose name is entered in the Register of Debenture Certificate or Certificates, shall alone be recognised and treated by the Council as the lawful and rightful holder and owner of such Debenture Certificate or Certificates.

2°—The loan will be redeemable at par (Tls. 100) in not less than 10 years and not more than 30 years, from 1st July, 1931 and according to the figures determinated by the Council.

3°—The loan will bear interest at 8% per annum, payable on the 30th day of June and 31st of December in each year, when interest warrants will be issued to the registered owners.

4°—The property and income of the Municipality, deducting those which serve as security provided in the Municipal Loans of 1903, 1911, 1914 and 1916 are the security for the repayment of the money advanced and for the interest thereon in the present loan.

The Members of the French Municipal Council are not personally liable in any way for the payment of either principal or interests.

5°—Applications for debentures will be received at the Secretary's Office, Rue du Consulat.

A cheque representing the amount of debentures asked for must be deposited at the same time.

6°—Applications for Debentures under par will not be recognised by the Council.

7°—For further informations, apply to Mr. P. LEGENDRE, Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Shanghai, 1st July, 1921.

How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filing with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

BRITISH STEEL OUTPUT

New York, June 16.—The Iron Age published on June 15 the figures of England's output of iron and steel in May. The pig iron output was 13,634 tons and the steel output 5,574, against 60,300 tons of pig iron and 68,400 tons of steel in April and a monthly average in 1920 of 587,325 tons of iron and 754,736 tons of steel. The abnormal reduction in output is ascribed primarily to the embargo on fuel as a result of the British coal strike.

The figures as given for output of steel ingots and castings make the following comparison with preceding months:

	1919 Tons.	1920 Tons.	1921 Tons.
January	718,000	734,000	498,400
February	734,000	738,000	485,500
March	758,000	840,000	359,100

YOKOHAMA SILK PRICES SHOW A GOOD ADVANCE

Buyers For U. S. Are Active But Become Hesitant As Quotations Rise

Tokio, July 13.—In the Yokohama raw silk market a measure of improvement is noted following new buying started by exporters for the United States. The price tends upward again although on the Yokohama Exchange it is flagging.

For the last few days Yokohama exporters have been obtaining favorable cables from overseas, especially from the United States. Monday afternoon they demonstrated that by starting tentative buying. Yesterday morning many of them were in the market apparently on the strength of the result of their having sounded holders the previous day. The center of their interests was yellow 21 medium or Hachioji grades.

In the afternoon they were developing their consultations further but it was very difficult to mature them in full, for on the ground of the shortness of the preferred cargoes holders were desirous of sending up the price higher while buyers were very unwilling to buy at advancing prices.

In the market for local transactions good business was started yesterday, buyers having grown less shy on the favorable turn in the export market yesterday. The price was also on the advance although it was not yet general.

On the Yokohama Exchange the general sentiment was rather unsettled not in line with the export silk trade but with the Tokio stock market which reacted yesterday. Straggling buyers were turning free sellers. Till noon October which opened at Y151.90 dropped to Y150.80. November which started at Y151.30 also dropped to the same point. In the afternoon more people joined the side of the bears and the weakness of the market was enhanced. After a few rounds of bids October dropped to Y149.50. November opened at Y150, but soon declined.

Chicherin's Protest

THERE are times when one almost despairs of finding common honesty in any society, whether it be a club, a church, a family, a parliament, a political party or a state, consisting of two or more persons. The division of responsibility seems to be fatal to strict integrity. It used to be said, many years ago, that when anybody wrote to either of the authors of Liddell and Scott's famous Greek Lexicon, calling attention to a slip or error in that monumental work, the one to whom the comment was addressed used to reply to the effect that that particular mistake was one of his collaborator's little slips.

This desire to shirk responsibility for a mistake becomes in time nothing short of complete atrophy of the moral sense. The converse also holds good: Corporate bodies are considered fair game for chicanery. A limited company has neither a body to kick nor a soul to damn; and it is always considered legitimate to defraud a railway company. The phenomenon is one of the ordinary facts of life, and the wise man tries to reckon for it, and at the same time to combat it. Only so is progress in human relations possible.

These considerations are suggested by two items of news that have come to hand within the past few days. Commander Kenworthy asked in the House of Commons in London whether General Wrangel, assisted and protected by the British authorities, was still plotting against the Soviet Government. In reply Mr. Cecil Harmsworth, Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, "declared that there was no truth in the allegation." It would be extremely interesting to know how either Mr. Cecil Harmsworth or any other member of the British Government could offer any such unqualified assurance. How could anybody who was not in the very closest touch with General Wrangel undertake to say that he was not plotting against the Soviet Government? Obviously they could not know.

We had thought, however, that the time for this sort of thing had passed. The British Government has signed a Trade Agreement with the Moscow Government, and in the text of that Agreement it implied that eventually the two Governments will enter into diplomatic relations. It is entirely inconsistent with the spirit of such an Agreement that one of the parties to it should be engaged in promoting or conniving in a secret intrigue against the other. Were it not for such questions as Commander Kenworthy's, one could not reasonably for a moment suppose that anything of the sort was going on. We are prepared to believe that the British Government is innocent, but the message sent by Mr. Chicherin to most of the Governments of Europe and to some of those of America, reported a day or two ago, suggests that some countries are still incapable of resisting the temptation to foment trouble in Russia itself and to support such desperadoes as General Wrangel in fresh efforts against the Soviet Republic from outside.

Nor is that all. Mr. Chicherin makes in reality two protests. The first is against the use of the funds of the Russian state itself for the purpose of assisting emigres, most of whom are the enemies of Russia, or they would not be emigres. The League of Nations, doubtless with good intent, proposes to establish a commission to aid emigres, and the "interested" Governments have been invited to express their opinions respecting the utilisation of funds belonging to the Government of Russia, deposited in foreign countries, for this purpose."

Such a proposal is an outrage on the commonest decency and honesty. So far as is known, the funds of the Russian state, deposited abroad, have hitherto been held inviolate, pending the establishment of a recognised Government in Russia. So rigid was the preservation of these funds intact that the British authorities, for instance, would not even allow their use for the payments of maturing Russian bonds, and the British courts sustained the British Government in the attitude it had taken. It is almost inconceivable, or it would be so were we not confronted with the facts to the contrary, that any government should propose to use funds that are indubitably the property of the Russian state for purposes which, to say the least, are not endorsed by that state; and that the League of Nations should take the initiative in this matter is not short of amazing.

Mr. Chicherin's protest is entirely justifiable. Still more justifiable is his further protest, against the use of Russian state funds for the virtual subvention of reactionary groups whose only use of the funds handed out to them will be for the organisation of counter-revolutions and attacks on what is, even in default of international recognition, the de facto and accepted Government of Russia.

As Mr. Chicherin points out: "Any assistance extended to the Russian emigres through their organisations therefore undoubtedly contributes to further the hostile acts against the Soviet Republic." This course of conduct in an individual would be most roundly and emphatically stigmatised as irrefutable evidence of the utter lack of moral sense; yet even the League of Nations appears to be prepared to wink at it when reputable governments propose it. Before the war, even a government that proposed to act thus would have been looked at askance. Yet we are told that war is ennobling.

NO WOMEN NEED APPLY

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir:—I desire to call your attention to the enclosed advertisement, and want to know why a discrimination is made against women. Does the advertiser imagine a woman could not enjoy real home comforts, and why is it that it is so hard for a lone business woman to obtain decent accommodations? I have been told many times that boarding house keepers do not want women as guests. What is the cause of the prejudice?

I certainly would be glad to discover a place where a woman could obtain the service and comforts offered to men. I don't think it is fair to publish an ad that discriminates. I am very interested to know if other women have not encountered the same experience especially we business women who have not time to shop while seeking a living place.

I hope you will publish this letter as I would like to hear of others' experiences. Thanking you in advance, I am, Faithfully yours,

An Unwanted Woman.

Editor's note:—We are querying the advertiser quoted by the writer of the above.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

The discovery of oil in Derbyshire, England, is likely to revolutionise British industry, and if it does, the name of Lord Cowdray, the discoverer, will gain further fame.

Lord Cowdray does not often allow himself to be victimised by interviewers, but he recently relented and consented to answer a few questions.

The interviewer wasted no time but got straight to the point.

"What is the secret of success in life?" he asked.

"The secret of success," replied Lord Cowdray, "is to find out what the people want."

"And then to give it to them?"

"No," corrected Lord Cowdray. "Corner it!"

VERSATILITY

Versatility is regarded as a cardinal virtue in the country which has sent Warwick Armstrong and his merry men to England to recover "The Ashes." Every man can bat, bowl, field and play the game. But it is not only in cricket that the folk "Down Under" require versatility. In an Australian paper appeared, not so long ago, the following advertisement: "Wanted soprano singer for touring company. Good needle woman for preference." Another "Want" appearing a little time ago in an Australian sheet ran: "Wanted at once for company, about to go on tour, gentlemanly young actor. Billposter preferred."

It reminds one of the parson who advertised for: "A gardener who can wash, sew and milk a cow."

NO HEAT WAVES THERE

There is one spot where it is always cool. This is the summit of Ben Nevis, the highest mountain in the British Isles, where from 1883 until 1903 the Scottish Meteorological Society maintained an observatory.

The records kept during these twenty years show that there is no month in the year when snow does not fall there while from the beginning of November till the end of March violent storms of snow and sleet sometimes rage for days on end.

During one particularly severe snowstorm, the wind, which attained at times the almost incredible velocity of 150 miles an hour, forced the snow, dry and powdery as dust, through every chink in the walls of the observatory. By morning there was over a ton of it inside the living rooms.

There is no branch of the Shanghai Cold Storage Company there.

Election Tactics In Far Eastern Republic

BY DR. A. E. ZUCKER
(Union Medical College, Peking, who is spending his vacation in Siberia for The China Press)

Chita, July 11.—The elections for the provincial assemblies of the Far Eastern Republic are being held now—on Sunday, July 10, and the two following days. The provincial assembly according to the Constitution is "the highest organ of the Central Authority in the provinces" and is "elected by the people of the province for two years by a universal, equal, direct, and secret ballot on the basis of proportional representation," one representative to each 2,500 citizens Chita, a city of about 45,000 inhabitants, is to have twenty-one members, and the entire province of Transbaikalia about two hundred.

According to figures furnished me by the Foreign Office, the city population of this province is 62,200 and the rural population 397,500. The provincial assembly is the legislative branch of the government of the province, and it elects the Administrative Board which is the executive branch of the provincial government. It is similar to the "Government," the seven men elected by the national assembly as the executive branch of the national government, a commission to govern the province, an attempt to carry out the commission from the city government in a wider sphere.

The method of election is that each party nominates about as many men as there are vacancies to fill. Out of this list, beginning from number one downward, a number will be called elected which will correspond to the proportion of votes received by the party, i.e. if the Soviet Revolutionaries will poll one-third of all votes they will have their first seven men in the provincial assembly as members from the city of Chita.

SEVEN PARTY TICKETS

There are seven parties in the field, numbered in the order in which they registered themselves as competing parties. The first are the Partisan Defenders of Soviet Russia—a group that is very far to the left, together with Number 6, the Communists, on the extreme left, in fact. Number 1 advertises itself as a party of workers and counts up among its candidates with great pride the professions of the office-seekers: saddlers, shoemakers, tailors, etc.

One man is called a "school-worker" and it is left to the voter to guess whether he is a teacher or a janitor. On the ticket of the Communists are men who are most of them well-known as active politicians and office-holders. Number 2 are the Soviet Democrats, a party with leanings to the right. Number 3 is the "No Party Labor Group," the party furthest to the right consisting of the intellectuals. They have as their platform: Recognition of Constitution, democratic functioning of all bodies and no oligarchy, payment of officials and supplying of the population with food, free trade and free industry, protection of workers, etc., all things either guaranteed in the Constitution or else seemingly self-evident.

VAGUE IN EXPRESSION

It is characteristic of the intellectuals that they express themselves in this manner, in many instances rather vaguely, but what they mean is definitely moving to the right and away from all connection with Soviet Russia. Number 4 are the People's Labor Socialists and Number 5 the Siberian Social Revolutionaries. Next come the Communists and as Number 7 the Social Revolutionaries—a party also with no communistic spirit about it.

The Communists have posted on many houses and fences characterisations of the various groups with advice to the voter. "If you are an enemy of Soviet Russia and want Semenoff back, vote for Number 2" (the Social Democrats). The intellectuals' group is characterised, "If you are a friend of the speculators and want to steal all from the people, vote for Number 3." "Vote for Number 5 or 7, if you like to talk much and do not care for the fruits of the Revolution." But of their own party they announce:

"All who are friends of Soviet Russia, for the dictatorship of the proletariat, against intervention, against the tyranny of the bourgeois, and against counter-revolution—vote for Number 6."

And another appeal, "Stop! A worker or soldier who does not vote for Number 6 is for Semenoff, for Merkuloff, and is no patriot!"

POSTERS ARE MODEST

These exhortations are printed on grayish paper in about one inch type and are found about one in every other block, posted on fences or walls. There are no big and glaring posters, as far as I have observed; there has been only one election meeting that I have heard of at which speakers of various parties spoke, but since the audience was composed mostly of people with Communist sympathies other speakers were not cordially received.

In the circles of the intellectuals I was told that there had been a 'free for all' fight, but upon questioning six separate witnesses I find that a speaker was hooted down and a pass was made by one man as though he was going to strike, but not one blow was delivered. Other parties have also posted bills of similar nature, though in much smaller number. I have heard that one party was forced to print its bills on the typewriter, because a printer's shop in which the work was to be done suddenly found that they had more important work to do—some of the printers were Communists—I don't know how true that is.

But I know that other parties have posted all over town their newspapers—there are six or seven papers here of all parties—and in these the Communists are attacked as tyrants, the destroyers of trade and industry etc., quite like what we read in the non-Communist papers all over the world. There is freedom of the press here, it is quite evident, the only interference with it are politicians' tricks such as one would find in every democratic country—also, we who had lived in Philadelphia know this too well.

PEOPLE OF ENERGY

The Communists are the people of energy and resourcefulness, not over-scrupulous when it comes to winning a political fight, and they pushed ahead. The "intelligentsia" allow themselves to be pushed aside very easily, they are timid, and they are afraid of soiling their hands or compromising their dignity in a political struggle. I was told, for example, of one man who was a candidate for the Constitutional Assembly last winter on the ticket of the Cadets, the party farthest to the right. He was elected, but when his friends went to congratulate him they found that he had fled to Harbin!

Now there were about half a dozen of the Cadet persuasion in the Constitutional Assembly, and throughout the long sessions nobody hurt them, no Communist even so much as put a pin in their seat. But my impression is that none but the Communists have any energy in the fight for office.

To illustrate this I will tell of what I saw and heard at the polls. In a school house or some other convenient building a room is furnished with a long table at which three citizens of different parties sit to control the election. A man in boots, military trousers, and a Russian shirt embroidered all around the edges and the collar, or a worn-out house-wife in a loose wrapper and a shawl t'ed over her bobbed hair struggle into the room and show that they have been duly registered by presenting the slip given every voter by the police.

VOTE BY NUMBER

Then they are given a slip of paper and an envelope, after it has been found that they are regular voters of the district by a comparison with the list in the hands of the judges, and they are asked to step into a screened booth in the corner where they write on the slip of paper the number of the party they favor—nothing more—enclose the slip in the envelope, hand it to the chief election judge who drops it into a sealed box.

As there seemed nowhere to be a crowd at the polls I would always inquire how many had voted and why so few. At the last place in the business section of the town at two-thirty on the second day of voting I learned that at this time when more than half of the period for voting had elapsed only ten percent of the voters of that district had put in their appearance. On the first day I would be told that the fact it was Sunday, the day for picnics and fishing, accounted for the mild enthusiasm.

Today I was told that the people were not very well informed about the election (except that the police had handed every citizen a slip entitling him to vote), that people were not used to voting and each individual felt that his vote did not weigh heavily enough to cause him to go out of his way, and that the Chita people felt that out of 200 members they could elect only 21 and that this would do no good. At one point an election judge followed me out into the hall and told me that the other gentleman had not told me the whole truth.

The truth was that the voters of the district were striking and refraining from voting, because the power of the provincial assembly had not yet been determined; if the majority would be Communistic, their power would be great, if non-Communistic, small.

I asked the man a bit about himself and learned that he had been an Administrative Officer under the Tsar, had higher school education, and belonged to what they call the "better class." These people are forever pouring their tales of Communist discrimination into the ears of the American journalist.

But when I came back to the "Central Hotel" where I reside in Russian grime I looked the matter up. Paragraph 75 reads, "The prerogatives of the provincial assembly are:

(a) the election of the provincial board of administration;
(b) the control over all the administrative organs of the province;
(c) the solution of all questions of local administration and domestic affairs;
(d) the enforcement of all laws, orders, and resolutions of the Central Government, and
(e) the solution of all questions within the competence of the Provincial Assembly, and those questions relating to the province that can be solved by the Provincial Assembly without violating the laws or the Constitution of the Republic."

And paragraph 76: "For the execution of problems within the prerogatives of the Provincial Assembly, the latter holds the rights of:

(a) the promulgation of orders relating to all questions concerning the Provincial Assembly's competence;
(b) the levying of local taxes and other duties in conformity with the State Legislation;
(c) the regulation and the approval of the local budget;
(d) the enforcement of all laws and orders of the Central Government;
(e) the approval of the plan of operation of the Provincial Board and the account of its actions, and
(f) devising means for the effective solution of all domestic problems."

It seems to me, if anything, the powers of the Provincial Assembly are too fully stated in the Constitution which has been printed in pamphlet form and distributed among all citizens. The intellectuals have real grievances, as I hope to show in another article, but they do not get into the political struggle to have them righted. They appeal to foreigners and as Shatoff put it in American "they are forever knocking the government."

I presume that long before this will be printed the wires will have announced the results of the election, which will be according to my guess a victory of the Communists. The latter will tell the world that the Russian people desire communism and the "intelligentsia" will tell stray foreigners in these parts that the Communists have "managed" another election, brow-beaten the poor workers, and cheated in the count.

In my opinion both will be wrong; the Communists are the most energetic in the political game played according to fair rules, and the Russian people high and low lack the energy to assert themselves at the polls. If the people were really in favor of Communism one would not hear it said so often: "Here we have freedom of trade, here we can buy in the market, but in the Soviet Russia...." Lately they generally add that now there is free trade in Soviet Russia also, but only since very recent times.

Siccawei Weather Reports

31.—Remarkable anticyclone between Luzon and Cochinchina. The continental depression, with increased depth passes seawards between Kiangsu and Shantung, followed by strong S.W. to N.W. squalls, a few showers and a rapid cooling of temperature. Strong summer monsoon in the S. A depression is apparently forming in the neighborhood of Yap.

Aug. 1.—The pressure is slowly recovering. Banks of thick mist at sunrise. Temperature a little cooler. Moderate westerly breezes.

TURKESTAN ALSO INVADED; SOVIET AFTER BANDITS

Annenkoff Forces Routed On Chinese Soil Which They Make Base

Peking, July 27.—Mr. Chicherin, Commissar of Foreign Affairs of the Russian Soviet Republic, has addressed a note to the Peking Government in which he points out the necessity under which the Soviet Government finds itself of taking determined action against the Annenkoff bands, and stating that the necessity may arise for the Soviet forces to cross into Chinese territory temporarily, in order to exterminate detachments of Annenkoff, which whenever they meet with reverses after invading Soviet territory, take refuge in Chinese territory. The possibility of adopting measures similar to those taken by the Far Eastern Republic in respect to Ungern, has been pointed out in a note of Mr. Yourin to the Chinese Government.

"The Soviet forces have already crossed into Chinese Turkestan where they are completely routing the bandits of Annenkoff.

"It would be only just that to expect that our Government will take analogous steps especially when it is considered that the Annenkoff forces are small in comparison to Ungern forces, who are better disciplined, better armed, and well supplied from the Hailar military stores, and therefore Ungern constitutes a much more serious danger to the interests of Russian people than the remnants of Annenkoff's and Dutoff's armies, who are for the present roaming around Chinese Turkestan.

"Complete destruction of the bases of the White guards in the territory of Chinese Turkestan and Mongolia will put an end to constant danger of invasion of our territory and will relieve us from the necessity of keeping large armed forces constant by on our frontiers. On the other hand the destruction of these White guard bases will enable, or perhaps compel, the Peking Government to adopt more energetic steps to do away with the same kind of menace to our Republic along the Amur river and the Chinese Eastern Railway zone."
